THREE HOUSES BY DECEMBER AT ARMY CAMP

Newmarket is the scene of one of Canada's most promising housing projects, the conversion of the barracks at the camp into houses by J. W. Bowser.

Mr. Bowser plans on building 30 houses, each on a lot 74 feet square. Three houses will be ready for occupancy at the end of this month, ten by the end of the year and the remaining 20 next year.

When the project is completed, the 30 houses will be part of an attractive 20-acre community within Newmarket, and will help relieve the acute housing shortage in Newmarket. The cost of each house will not exceed $5,000 and preference will be given to veterans.

Each house has an outside surface of three coats of stucco. Inside, they are finished with sheeting, ten-test, gypcrete and plaster. Each cottage consists of a kitchen, dinette living-room, and two bedrooms. The floors are hardwood and the kitchen has a modern sink and cupboard unit.

The full-length basement of each house has poured cement walls, a smooth concrete floor, and a compact furnace for the cottage's hot air heating system. The basement could be converted into a recreation room.—By H. Proctor and J. Kelly.

Two New Teachers At H.S. As Enrolment On Increase

Two new members have been added to the staff of Newmarket high school, G. McInnes and W. Fish.

Mr. McInnes has succeeded Mrs. Jamieson on her resignation as a teacher of French. He graduated from Saskatchewan University, and received his Ontario certificate at the Ontario College of Education. During the war, he served overseas as a warrant officer in the R.C.A.F. He has taught in Renfrew county, and has been highly recommended for his work there.

The other addition to the permanent high school staff, made necessary by the increased enrolment, is a specialist in agriculture. Mr. Fish is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. In addition to teaching science and agriculture, he is a p.t. instructor.

Before coming to Newmarket, Mr. Fish taught at Port Frances, a flourishing town in the Rainy River district.

In view of the vacancy left in the music department by Mrs. Jamieson's resignation, Mr. Fowler has come to Newmarket from Toronto, where he was organist at Humblerest United church.—Phyllis Winch.

PUPILS FAVOR SCHOOL AREA AT N.H.S. POLL

By MARION ROSE

For many years Newmarket has been a leader in North York in such fields as industry and sports. We are proud that our town occupies such a prominent position but, as students, we would like to see it become the leader in another field—education.

In a recent survey, we found that not only the principal but also an overwhelming majority of our pupils favor the high school area plan.

J. W. Lockhart, principal, outlined the plan for us. Larger, centrally located high schools will be established and small continuation schools such as Mount Albert will be abolished. The main purpose of the system is to equalize educational opportunities and to provide the better facilities obtainable only in the larger type of school.

Several of our own students who have attended both a continuation school and a high school named even more advantages.

For one thing, a more varied course of studies can be offered. In a larger unit such as the one in view for Newmarket, home economics, shop-work, and agriculture can be taught. The expense incurred can be spread over a larger area. Larger schools have gymnasiums where physical training is taught by competent instructors, auditoriums where literary activities can be carried out, art rooms with special equipment, and commercial departments which offer excellent preparation for those seeking business careers. Most continuation schools cannot begin to offer such necessary "extras."

Academically, the continuation school pupil suffers. Because of the small enrolment and the limited staff, classes must be combined. If a subject is missed the student has to wait two years to complete the necessary work. The periods are short and there is always the temptation to "tune in" when another lesson is being taught, often at the expense of present work.

Several students pointed out the social advantages of the larger school. A larger group presents more variety and gives much wider scope to the individual. There are definite gains to be had from associating with more people and from sharing in more group activity.

On the other hand, in all fairness, there are some disadvantages in the plan. Some pupils in our school estimated that they spend 11 hours a day on the road. In winter their difficulties are increased. Then too, the small school with its system of having at least two classes in the room all the time, teaches the student to be self-reliant and to concentrate. In spite of this, only one student out of the 12 questioned would prefer to attend a continuation school. All these are in an excellent position to weigh the respective merits of the two systems, having attended both types of school. Yet, 11 out of the 12 favored our school.

Transportation systems will have to be improved to solve the problem of distance.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales saw "a vision" the other night of the wonders that will be when we have an enlarged high school in Newmarket with pupils coming in from all the surrounding area. That day is rapidly approaching and it has the full sanction of our pupils. Newmarket is forging ahead educationally as well as industrially.

FOR OUR PART

As tangible proof of our recognition of Education Week, the editor and staff of The Era and Express have kindly agreed to let the high school take over this week's edition. This issue is, with a few exceptions, the entire product of the work of our high school students.

Since this is our first undertaking of this kind, we have made some errors. The names of three of our newspaper staff who have been omitted from the list on our editorial page are Pat Duncan and Robert McInnes, in charge of sports write-ups, and William Gilroy, advertising manager. ### Citizens' Forum Discusses Increase In Milk Cost

The first Newmarket meeting of the citizens' forum was held in the room behind the council chambers Friday, at 8 p.m. Fifteen people were present.

G. A. Crutcher explained how the citizens' forum, which began out of informal meetings where people aired their views on current news items, became a nation-wide project. In Ontario, there are 400 forums which, usually made up of 10-15 people, are ideal discussion groups.

Mrs. W. H. Wilnot, Sharon, and H. D. Ghent, Newmarket, pointed out the similarities and differences between citizens' and farm forums. The farm forum is not a new idea in Newmarket since one has existed near here for the past four years.

In citizens' forums, it is customary to choose a different chairman each week, and Mr. Ghent was nominated on Friday. He described the four objectives sought in a discussion, to work out a common problem with others, to gain information, to correct one's own views, and to find the truth. He said that the milk question had been chosen for discussion because it is of common interest to all. He then introduced Jas. Hope, president of the local milk producers' association, and F. A. Hall, co-owner of Hillsdale Dairy.

Mr. Hope and Mr. Hall presented their views on the situation from their stand-points of producer and distributor. Following their short talks there was a general discussion in which each one present had a chance to ask a question that had been bothering him, or argue about a point stated by the speakers.

As a conclusion Mr. Ghent summed up the discussion aptly by saying "Milk is the cheapest food that can be bought. Even at 20 cents a quart it would still be cheapest." It was found by the forum that if our conception of milk prices had not been warped and if we had been paying the true value, this five-cent rise would not seem so hard to become accustomed to.

On Friday, Nov. 8, the next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ghent at 8 p.m. when the topic for discussion will be "Education and National Unity."

Education is the strength of democracy.

Educating Citizens

"Education for responsible citizenship"—the theme of this year's convention of the Ontario Educational Association—might well be taken as our motto for Education Week.

A responsible citizen is not only one who does no actual harm to society and never goes to jail, but one who does something constructive for his community. He is one who realizes that a progressive community is the result of planning, of co-operation, of unselfishly giving time, talent and energy to help his community.

The school is where we learn the most valuable lessons in responsible citizenship. The student develops a sense of pride in his school and strives to keep his school one of which he may be proud. Later this "school spirit" may be transferred to a pride in the whole community, and the citizen may desire to contribute to its welfare. He may become an active participant in community enterprises and may serve on a local governing body. This citizen's pride in his community developed from his pride in the first community project he knew, the school.

Another valuable lesson learned in the school is co-operation. The student soon learns that he cannot do just as he wishes if he wants to get along happily with others. He learns tolerance: he must limit his activities by their effect upon others, and thus he comes to realize that living peaceably necessitates a respect for the rights of others.

During this Education Week, we are thinking of our schools. There is no other institution in which the fundamental principles of democracy, goodwill, tolerance and co-operation are taught more clearly and understandably. The school is the cornerstone of responsible citizenship.

Our Debt To Veterans

A short time ago we were in a flurry of activity. We were busy sending overseas parcels, working in the Red Cross rooms and in our homes, contributing to the cigaret fund, packing ditty bags and sending what we fondly hoped were "newsy" letters to the boys and girls away from home. We felt cheered when word was received from those in the prison camps. We were united with one idea in mind.

Since we have been enjoying peace for over a year, it might be a suitable time to take stock.

November 11 has been declared a holiday in remembrance of those who have paid the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II. It is very fitting that some time be set aside for this purpose, lest we forget the sacrifices that have been made so that we might enjoy a life free from tyranny and oppression.

How easy it is for us to forget the cost of freedom! If we could only remember continually what it has cost these men to maintain our freedom, we would willingly make our own small sacrifices in order that it might be maintained. Therefore on Monday, our Remembrance Day, let us thank God for His manifold blessings and remember with grateful hearts these men who died that we might live.

Are we prepared to do something in addition to observing Remembrance Day? It seems very little to dedicate two minutes of one day in the year to those who have done so much. What provisions are we making on the other 364 days for the veterans?

There are a great number of things we can do to show our thanks to the living. We can patronize the veterans, not "be patronizing" to them! Those who are re-established in business deserve our whole-hearted support. Incidentally, they are offering excellent service. We can help them find living quarters and do our best to see that they are not victimized; if we are in a position to do so, we can give them jobs; we can help those who have returned to school. There are countless little things which each individual can do.

Finally, we should be considering what we can do in town to commemorate those who have fallen. There should surely be some concrete expression of our appreciation. There has been some discussion of naming some of the streets in town after our present councillors. Another suggestion might be to name them after those who died in the service.

Our gratitude should certainly not be punctuated by the factory whistles blown at 11 a.m. and 11.02 on Monday.

Student Looks At Town

Editors, writers and speakers have harped on juvenile delinquency so much in the last few years that the public has reached the stage where it is often almost disappointing if the student acts as a rational creature. Even a good idea can be done to death.

From our observations, students are normal individuals; they have faults and virtues, reckless moments and conservative hours. Naturally enough old heads do not grow on young shoulders. However, if high school students were treated as the citizens of tomorrow instead of problem children and potential criminals, they would rise to greater heights. It is a well known fact that we do just about what is expected of us.

Luckily for us, the people of Newmarket have taken a very sane view on this issue. In the last year or two, the different organizations of the town have been working with one end in view—the provision of recreation for the younger generation.

The newly formed recreation council with its recreational director deserve a great deal of credit. Last summer they carried out very successfully a program of supervised swimming at Wilcox Lake. They are also to be congratulated on providing many playground activities in the summer months and on saving the town from destruction on Hallowe'en night.

It is hard to single out any one organization for praise. The Women's Institute in sponsoring an Ice Polities using only local talent deserves recognition. The newly formed dramatic and music clubs are instances of planned recreation which is very worth while from both the participants' and spectators' standpoint. The Cubs, the Brownies, the church groups, the Sunday-schools, the school sports and many other groups and activities should be mentioned. The efforts of Max Boag with his dances for teen-agers on Friday nights should not be passed over.

Young people are often criticized for not appreciating the things done for them. On the contrary, the young people of Newmarket are deeply conscious of the efforts made in their behalf. People who should know are always saying that the wealth of a country lies in its young people. If we are an investment, we shall do our very best to see that Newmarket and Canada reap the dividends.

'Small Town'

The phrase "small town", as applied to ideas, personalities and attitudes, is definitely uncomplimentary. Are these words, as used above, applicable to our town of Newmarket?

Pettiness is one of the cardinal sins of this as well as any other town. Rumors spread quickly and any unkind word may soon assume gigantic proportions. Damage done by malicious gossips is never undone. We should think before making statements. Remember, "the truth shall make you free".

While a word of criticism may be spoken lightly and with no actual malicious intent, it may have a disastrous effect on the victim. We know of many examples of this. While only of public school age, one of our town boys was told by some unthinking person that he was "no good", and would never amount to anything. He never forgot this, and after working his way through high school, he was actually dumbfounded when he passed his upper school examinations successfully! He so firmly believed that he was not capable of doing more, that he refused to go on to any higher school of learning. Thus, this boy's life will not be as full as it might have been, because of that careless criticism.

During the war, we worked hard and planned for the post-war period. We agreed on one principle—that more understanding and tolerance were necessary. If this is a basic truth, fundamental to the preservation of peace in the community as well as in the world, why can't we become big enough to understand our neighbors? We have seen that, in our community, we sometimes do not attempt to understand our fellow citizens and recognize their good points. Newmarket citizens, especially those who hold public offices, have been criticized and their actions disapproved of by the public. Why can we not make allowances for others and spread a word of praise for a change? Let us practise the Golden Rule and rise above our petty grievances, forsaking our narrowness.

Newmarket is growing—in industries, in area and in population. In one sense it can no longer be called a "small town", but in the uncomplimentary sense, "small town" unfortunately still applies.

Question

Dear Mr. Davis: So far, there has been no progress made towards erecting a war memorial in Newmarket. Would it not be fitting that a memorial to the sacrifices of Newmarket boys who grew up as friends of all our townspeople, be one which would be used and enjoyed by the whole town? Such a memorial would be a new town hall.

The ramshackle old fire-trap that serves as our present town hall is a disgrace to Newmarket. No Newmarket citizen can feel even a spark of pride in its ugly, old-fashioned, dilapidated appearance. Surely Newmarket, already becoming an important industrial centre, deserves a better municipal building than this!

A new town hall would solve many of the problems about town; a well-equipped gym would attract youngsters, and keep them off the streets with healthful recreation; the library could be transferred to the town hall; a new stage and auditorium would simplify the difficulties of the dramatic club in presenting their excellent plays; other organizations, such as the art and handicraft classes, archery and rifle clubs and music society, would have some place to carry on their activities. Newmarket's community centre would be one which our town people would be glad to visit, not a place to be avoided as much as possible.

Do you not think that the erection of a new town hall should be considered as a war memorial? What steps do you think should be taken in such a project as this?

Eileen Jackson.

Answer

Your request for an expression of opinion as to whether an up-to-date municipal auditorium should be erected in memory of our comrades from Newmarket and district who made the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II is before me. My recollection is that on the occasion of the great VE Day demonstration in Lions Park, Newmarket, I freely advocated such action from the platform. There seemed considerable support from many quarters at the time and later the town authorities engaged an engineer to recommend a site and so far as I know the recommendation was made and there the matter was allowed to drop.

In my opinion there can be very few who, if they think about this matter, do not hold themselves a little less proudly when realising nothing has been done as yet to this end.

It is my pleasure to support your plea for a memorial to our fallen and your suggestion that it should be an auditorium, modern in all respects, and serving many purposes as well as that of a town hall.

If the project does ever take shape, there is one suggestion that up to now I have not heard advanced which seems to me most important.

We have no proper fire-proof place in York County for assembling and making available for study and reference, books, engravings, documents and source material pertaining to the early settlement and development of this district and the county of York.

It would not surprise me if the department of education for Ontario, under the public libraries branch, would support this idea; at least it would seem to me worth exploring.

Aubrey Davis

Question

Dear Mr. Belugin: What is being done about building the new school wing to relieve the present overcrowding of our high school? Rooms are being used that should not be the science labs are being used as form rooms. Our curriculum does not allow students to take both biology and Latin or both trigonometry and history because they both happen to be in the same period.

A larger school would mean more teachers and we would have opportunity for such subjects as household economics and manual training. These are provided in smaller schools; why not Newmarket?

School areas have not as yet been decided upon but are being thought about seriously. At present we have pupils from surrounding townships attending our school. For instance, Mount Albert has a continuation school and the students who want to carry on their education must come here. Instead of these other schools why not have school areas with Newmarket as the centre?

To have this situation carried out would mean a larger school and transportation by bus. N.H.S. needs a new wing and Newmarket wishes a school of which she can be proud.

We know the town council is supporting our high school board in this matter and we appreciate it very much.

Dorothy Sprague.

Answer

The Editor: What is being your letter of October 25, I should like you to know that I realize only too well the burning necessity of enlarging our high school building.

You may not know it, but the high school board has been carrying on a fight for a larger school; both in physical size and in curriculum, for about nine years. The board is unanimous on the subject. There was some opposition to our project nine years ago and as a consequence the people of Newmarket voted it down. It is different now. The town council is behind us and so is the provincial department of education.

Our plans for the addition of home economics, shop work and full agricultural course are being held at the department office pending the decision on the new high school area question. As soon as we know what is going to be done about it "one way or the other", we shall press our application for the kind of school we think Newmarket should have.

You can rest assured that we shall not lose a minute. And we want you students to help us if it comes to voting on the question again, to make our people realize that there is no earthly reason why our young people should not have the same opportunity for proper education which is being offered in other communities, some of them even smaller than ours.

A. N. Belugin.

P.S. The board is unanimously in favor of the new high school area.

Question

The Editor: It is a well known fact that German orphans given homes by people of other nationalities after the first world war later turned against these people and their countries. We know, too, that since the close of the second world war, many allied soldiers have married German women.

What do you think our attitude should be toward the German people? Should we hold them as our inferiors, or should we regard them as misled individuals who, if shown the light, would become decent, peace-loving citizens of the world?

In view of the fact the U.N.R. R.A. has apparently failed, that the Russians proved uncooperative at the Paris peace conference and that the questions of India and Palestine are seemingly insoluble, what in your opinion is the answer to the world's problems today?

Nora Jones

Answer

The Editor: I find it difficult in such short space to give an adequate answer to the preceding letter.

In the first place, I am not sure where Miss Jones obtains the facts in the first sentence of her letter. On such a matter it is impossible to get adequate facts or figures on which to make any generalization.

Your correspondent asks what should be our attitude to the German people, and if we should hold them as inferiors. There is no such thing as an "inferior race." If we adopt this attitude to our late enemies we are falling into the worst sin of the Nazi philosophy.

It seems, however, that certain factors in the history of the German people have made them more susceptible than some other nations to the appeal of military glory and nationalistic success.

It would take a book to answer the question in the last paragraph. All that anyone can do is to give an expression of personal opinion. I believe history proves that in the long run force, violence, hatred, bitterness, are not successful; I also believe that, in the long perspective of history, the so-called "idealists" have been proved to be the greater "realists." There is no doubt that in the present critical period in the world's history we must exercise practical firmness in the handling of certain of the very difficult problems that confront the people of the world, but we should never forsake our fundamental objective of "one world" of brotherhood in which all races, all creeds, and all colors may share those good things that have been provided for us.

Certainly, any decision which violates the fundamental dignity of human personality cannot be calculated to contribute to the ultimate goal.

Jos. McCulley.

Question

The Editor: For years the thought of a swimming pool for Newmarket has been in the minds of the citizens. Now that the war is over, why can't we do something practical about the question—Where can we go swimming?

As there is no body of water in Newmarket suitable for swimming, travelling to Lake Simcoe, Wilcox Lake or Glenville pond is necessary. The recreation council nobly came to the rescue by supplying the needed transportation. Each child had the opportunity of going swimming twice a week. They were taken to and from Wilcox Lake in a bus which made three trips a day, three days a week. When we realize that it cost the recreation council $700 for transportation alone, we cannot help but recognize the fact that a swimming pool in Newmarket would be a saving. The response on behalf of the parents and children to this effort of the recreation council proves that they are interested and that a swimming pool would not go unused. If we had a swimming pool here in Newmarket, the children could enjoy themselves not just twice a week, but as often as they wished. In addition, it is a well-known fact that swimming is one of the best exercises for the development of muscles and well-formed bodies.

Swimming is part of our practical education. In World War II many of the boys who enlisted in the navy did not know how to swim and had to spend time learning. Also, many of those in other services lost their lives because they could not swim. Are we going to let this happen again or are we going to supply the boys and girls of this generation with a suitable place to swim?

Frances Miller.

Answer

The Editor: I find your editorial letter very interesting and I feel quite confident it will be equally interesting to other Newmarket citizens.

Everybody knows that we have the location and limited funds that have been set aside for a swimming pool.

This summer approximately $700 was spent on transportation alone. Over a period of five years or so, this money would help pay for a swimming pool. We are sure the parents would rather have their children swimming at home and under careful supervision of an experienced instructor.

I think everyone realizes the importance of swimming to a child's health and well being. I also suggest that it might be a very fitting memorial to the boys who so willingly gave their all that we and our children might live a healthier, happier life.

Recreation Director.

N.H.S. HELPS NAVY LEAGUE

This year Newmarket high school again supported the Navy League by raising $16.73 to help the sea cadets and other league-sponsored activities.

Grade IXB donated the highest amount with $5, and Grade XC came next with $2.62. Every year since the beginning of the war, the high school has donated something to the Navy League. Last year the students filled 29 ditty bags with contents valued at $87.—Betty Pegg.

EXAM PAPERS SOURCE OF STUDENT HUMOR

The teacher's lot is not always a happy one. However, they must get a great deal of enjoyment out of the boners handed in on exam papers. Some of these little gems are just too good to be kept, so we have selected some of the products of the vivid imaginations of our N.H.S. students. Our favorites are:

"Champlain stumbled on Lake Champlain and fell in with the Indians."

"Charles I dug up old statues to raise more money."

"Bonnie Prince Charlie was as hard to locate as Kilroy."

"Charles lost the battle of Nuremberg."

"Charles lost the battle of Marston Moor in 1914 and was executed on January 30, 1919."

"One of the bones of the arm is the humorous or funny bone."

"Switzerland is an utterly perpendicular or funicular kind of country consisting of innumerable soft white mountains such as Mont Blanc, Blanc Mange, the Alps and an equal number of bottomless pits and valleys. It smoothed out flat it would take up a great deal of room."

"The greatest invention of the Indians was the papoose."

"Her cloak was lined with rich vermin."—B. Grose.

HOFFMAN ENTERPRISE ALL-CANADIAN FIRM

Newmarket is growing as an industrial centre. The current addition to our town is a factory which is being built by the Canadian Hoffman Co. on Charles St. Due to the uncertainty of obtaining building materials, it is doubtful when the factory will start in production.

The building will be 50,000 sq. ft. in ground area. For a factory this size there will be numerous employees, the majority of whom will be men. Several of these people will be from Newmarket while others, including the foremen, will be from the factory in Toronto.

The Canadian Hoffman Co. will be manufacturing different types of machinery. Canadian raw materials will be used and most of the products will stay in the Dominion. This makes the products all-Canadian!

NEW COURSES AT N.H.S. ADD VALUE TO SCHOOL

By JEAN MACARTHUR
During the last two years a few changes have been made in the curriculum of Newmarket high school. Agricultural science has replaced general science in grades nine and ten and a guidance program has been started.

Guidance is practical assistance given to pupils in the cultivation of their abilities and in the gathering of pertinent information about educational and occupational worlds. Help is given to each pupil in making decisions which will lead to a contented worker and a happy citizen.

"Occupations" is a compulsory subject in grade nine for two periods a week. In this course such topics as how to study, applying for a job and job opportunities in Canada are studied. The aim of the course is to familiarize the student with the occupational fields of today rather than to force him to decide on a career.

Although agricultural science is being taught only in grade nine and ten at present, it will be extended to grade 12 in two years. Agriculture has been included in the curriculum because of its practical value since many of the pupils come from the country. Grade nine pupils study milk and poultry raising and grade ten pupils study livestock, soil and insects.

When the new wing is added to the school, both of these departments, guidance and agriculture, will assume their rightful places. These subjects are in the transition period at present.

One theory has it that before newspapers were printed, recent events were posted on the four columns. N.E.W.S., the cardinal points of the compass, a less colorful but more truthful derivation is that "news" is merely the plural of "new."

Question

The Editor: Having been under the influence of a student council, and having noted its advantages for the past few years, I think that every high school should have a similar organization. The purpose of the student council is to represent and to direct the extra-curricular activities of the school.

Besides the perceptible, there would be the intangible advantages like the training in democratic government, the stimulation of working for the improvement of the school, the greater school spirit when everybody is pulling the same way for a better school, and finally, the provision of something similar to a safety valve where everyone with a grievance could come and talk it over.

The formation of a student council would give the opportunity to experiment with student responsibility, and I feel sure that the students of Newmarket high school have a deep sense of responsibility and that they could be entrusted in co-operation with staff advisors with a voice in all student activities.

Peggy Locke.

Answer

The Editor: I wish to acknowledge your letter in which you suggest the formation of a student council in Newmarket high school, and at the same time express my appreciation to you for bringing this question to my attention.

Like yourself, I have had the privilege of observing a student council at work and I heartily agree with your statement "that every school should have such an organization." During the past year I have felt the need of a central student body organization in our school, a need which could be filled very satisfactorily by a student council.

Let me assure you that it will be a pleasure to call together the executives of our present organizations, and representatives of the staff for the purpose of organizing a student council. This will be done in the very near future.

J. W. Lockhart,
Principal.

Question

The Editor: The question of sororities and fraternities is again being brought to light. This time it is not the democratic views about these societies with which we are concerned but with the question, "Why don't we form these organizations within our school?"

There is nothing for us to do Friday nights and through these societies we could arrange some entertainment. Since our school is small, nearly all the students would be allowed to join. This breaks down the argument about these societies not being democratic. Most of the girls would be anxious to join the sororities and I am sure that we could meet at the members' homes once a week. The boys might make similar arrangements.

The establishment of sororities and fraternities in Newmarket high school would link our educational system with those of other cities, and even of the United States.

Mary Reville.

Answer

The Editor: Sororities and fraternities cannot be formed within our high school for many reasons. As there is no available time during the school week, activities would have to take place Friday evening. Out-of-town students would be unable to attend on this night. Therefore there would be only a group of town teenagers. If all the girls in high school were allowed to join, it would be impossible to have them meet in private homes.

In order to establish sororities and fraternities which would act as a link with schools in Canada and the United States, it would be necessary to adopt standards which would certainly be undemocratic. Fees would have to be paid—enough to maintain the local society and to be sent to headquarters. Also these organizations are supposed to be cliques of selected girls. By leaving membership open you have a club. Not everyone will find it easy to attend and attendance would probably drop off until one certain clique is left who, although they might not mean to be, would appear rather snobbish.

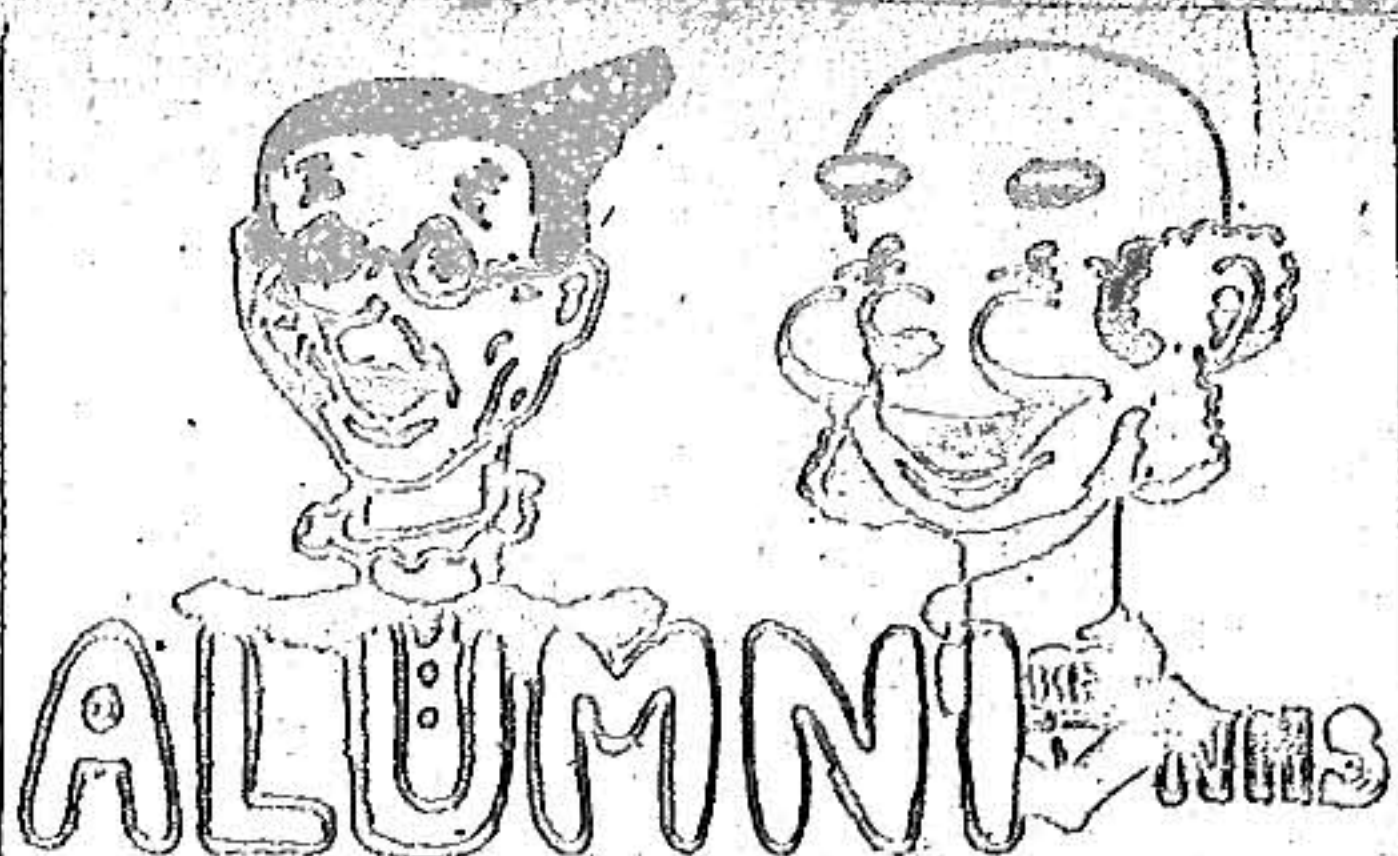

The answer to your question is Form a Teen Group. This can be done by the teenagers themselves. At present, there is only the show, Club 14 and bowling for weekend fun for teenagers. The monotony of these dulls the fun. If the boys and girls of the town would unite to form the kind of entertainment club that they need, a great deal could be accomplished. There are many possibilities for an organization of this kind.

Doris Proctor

Question

Dear Editor: As a student, I realize that our manners must be improved.

In the class room of today, the boys think nothing of pushing the girls down so that they can

Many of our last year's matriculation students have gone far from their "alma mater," N.H.S. From the girls of last year's class, two, Marie Rollings and Marion Morton, have decided on a nursing career. They are in training at Wellesley hospital. Dorothy Thompson expects to go in training in January. Many of our students elected to attend university; among them are Murray Dixon, taking honor science, Tom McEffe, studying honor law, Ruth Wilmet, taking the course in honor maths and physics, David Edwards, in medicine, and Donald King in engineering. All these students are studying at the University of Toronto.

Yielding to their yen for teaching, Marion King and Lois Marritt are now studying in the Normal school at Toronto. Ross Weller is studying at Guelph college. Both Lawrence Colton and Margaret King are working in the Bank of Montreal in Newmarket. Douglas Lapp is with the Continental Life Insurance Co. Tom Dales and Marion Locke are both working in Toronto; Tom in a bank, and Marion in the T.T.C. office. Donald Winch is helping at home in Bethaven, and Bob Spear is working in Bell's Drug Store, Newmarket.

Most of our last year's commercial graduates have found positions in town. Many are working in the office of the Office Specialty. Florence Callaghan, Violet Curtis, Orla Larsen, Keith Lewis, Ruth Greenwood, Alma McComb, Eleanor Mahoney and Dorothy Stevenson have all started their business careers here. Pauline Pollock is working in Toronto. Alta Drury is at home at the present time. Helen Smith is working in the Toronto T.T.C. office, and Ruth Lester, also in Toronto, has a position in the office of the Children's Aid Society. Mary Shanks and Lois Simpson are keeping each other company in the office at Pickering College. Also working in town are Florence Walker, in the Selective Service office, and Blair Bender in the office of Bender's Casket Factory, and Betty leave first. What is this generation coming to? In mothers' and fathers' day, the boys never thought of leaving the room first.

Every student is guilty of not standing erect and speaking directly to the teacher. The tendency is to lean against the desk, and gaze wistfully out the window. This annoys the teacher and dampens his joy in teaching the lesson.

The student usually answers with a short, blunt reply, instead of a polite "yes, sir," or "no, Miss Brown". Naturally the teacher thinks of the student's upbringing and wonders if he is as rude at home. After the student answers, he immediately sits down with a forceful thud, distracting the others' attention. Then, there is the girl who tries to turn the class room into a beauty salon by constantly combing her hair. There are mirrors in the cloak room, girls, if you feel you must use your comb. Of course your grooming should be done before you enter the room.

We are criticized by our elders, and rightly so. We are the offenders, and we deserve every bit of criticism that is levelled at us.

Shirley Geer.

Answer

Dear Editor: In your correspondent's letter criticizing the class room manners of her fellow students, she is unfair to the majority of students. If the manners, or lack of them, that she speaks of, are the usual behavior of the students with whom she spends her day, it is indeed time that those students were getting wise to themselves. And surely it is good that the criticism comes from one of their number. But your correspondent, and others too, must realize that one or two ill-mannered boys and girls do not make a grade, whether it is a grade IX or a grade XII. Unfortunately, those few can spoil the spirit of the class. May I repeat, those few should get wise to themselves.

As one who sees these manners in action and who sees a great variety of students in a day, I should like, Mr. Editor, to impress on your correspondent and your readers that student faults are not big ones; that they come from carelessness and thoughtlessness, not from malicious intent; that the class room behaviour of most students is excellent; that there can be lots of fun and freedom from restraint in a class room where co-operation is the ruling genius.

There are exceptions, but as a whole, the high school crowd is a good crowd.

Elsie Roberts.

Ash, in the town clerk's office. So much for last year's students!

We're also keeping track of graduates of previous years, and two pass along this bit of information. Studying at the University of Toronto are Beta Horner, in her second year of English language and literature, Ruth Winger, also in second year but taking history and modern languages, Jean Cato and Bill Revill at Ajax and Wilbur Henry in law.

Some have already started teaching careers: Mary Williamson is teaching in Toronto. Audrey Eves at Strange, Jim Cudmore in Northern Ontario and Doreen Prosser at Arncliffe. Margaret McKinnam, Audrey Hunt and Mary Jean Marritt are in their second year of training at Western hospital. Other potential nurses are Willa McCaffrey, in training at St. Michael's hospital in Toronto, and Isabel Cody, at the Royal Victoria hospital in Montreal. John Hunter, Bob Shaw and Clarke Hill are working in the office of the Office Specialty. Lillian Connell is working in Kernan's Drug Store in Toronto. Betty Skinner, an ex-graduate of our commercial department, is in the Bank of Toronto, while Gwen Smith is working in the Bank of Montreal. Dorothy Lee is in the Pickering College office and Jack Spilllette is with Spilllette and Son in Newmarket. Joan Peppitt is taking the lab technician's course in Central Tech., Toronto. Vera Belugla is continuing her studies at the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

We have been checking up on the staff of the school paper which was printed in 1930 and have discovered this about their whereabouts: Jim Tod, a graduate of S.P.S., is working for the Bell Telephone Company in London; Geale Hewson, Jack Peppitt and Bob Dixon are studying at the University of Toronto. Howard Hamilton is working in Barrie. Barbara Davis, formerly with the Navy Show, is studying dramatics in London, England.

Finally, hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watt, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Winch, all ex-students of N.H.S., for presenting Newmarket high with two potential students!

STUDENTS SEE HAMLET AT TORONTO SHOWING

BY PHYLLIS WINCH

Thirty pupils of Grade XIII with their English teacher, Miss Esther McGee, had a very happy diversion from their usual school work on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 30. They went to Toronto by chartered bus to see Shakespeare's "Hamlet", which was playing at the Royal Alexandra.

Maurice Evans, who played Hamlet, held the audience spellbound with his magnificent performance. The rest of the cast were also exceptionally good.

The beautiful modern costumes of the players made a colorful display on the stage. In the court scenes the players were resplendent in rich blues, reds, gold, and greens, the plainer grey uniforms of the soldiers suited the cold, dreary atmosphere of the scenes on the battlements of Elsinore.

The students were especially interested in the play since they are studying it in school. It is hoped that they will benefit from it in their exams!

All the Grade XIII students are grateful to Miss McGee for arranging for this enjoyable afternoon.

KESWICK

Hallowe'en passed off without serious damage. The children were well-treated at school and in the evening. The Institute and school board supplied a party with lots of good things to eat.

There was a bit of mischief but on the whole the youngsters were fairly well behaved.

Dr. and Mrs. Brian Wilbert, Windsor, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peel. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilson, Toronto, left last week after spending a few days with Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Ryan Switzer, and Mr. Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pollock were host and hostess to a large crowd of friends on Friday evening when Mr. Pollock's birthday and the opening of the large new garage he has built were noted. There was dancing until the small hours of the morning, a generous supply of good things to eat, and a large birthday cake in honor of the event.

Miller's orchestra supplied the music.

KILROY

The world is in a turmoil and crowds to laugh and cheer as some corny person yells, "Kilroy was here."

Kilroy was a soldier so the Americans say who was drafted to the army and fought for the U.S.A. Somewhere in the Pacific he started his own campaign and tacked on posts and fences a sign that bore his name.

So now on every billboard on every vacant spot appears the name of Kilroy. Although we know him not. This freak that they call Kilroy has made the people stare and hope some time or other they'll beat this Kilroy there. So with this thought I leave you and hope you will agree. This person they call Kilroy is a menace to you and me.

MONSTER OF WEST
CULPS LIVE FOOD
By GOLDEN GLOW
This isn't one for Andy Clark, like the one I wrote about last month—the sea serpent that turned into a big black cow with horns and a lashing tail. The cow had been out for an early morning swim. I was finishing the breakfast dishes that Sunday morning, listening as always to "Weekly News by Andy Clark," when I heard "This one from the Newmarket Era and Express, by someone who signs herself 'Golden Glow'—and he read my little story of the comedy of the sea serpent that turned out to be a big black cow. We hadn't got half way to church till we'd been laughingly told about it by several people, and our phone had been busy right up till we started out to church. We all listen to Andy!

This is about two other sea serpent stories. Just let someone start a yarn about a sea serpent, and a whole crop matures at once—like mushrooms overnight!

One was from Anchorage, Alaska, last week, where villagers of nearby Homer debated whether the monster, washed ashore at Cook's Inlet, was of prehistoric origin. The mammoth creature which resembles a huge lizard is 18 feet, 10 inches long. According to the villagers, it has crocodile-shaped jaws and its bony head measures 3 1/2 feet long, and 2 feet 3 inches wide. Its body is covered with hair-like fur, and its teeth—22 lower and 20 upper—are four inches long and an inch thick.

I heard that over the radio and was repeating it at our sewing meeting, and said, "Fancy that! Teeth 42 inches long. Surely I couldn't have heard it correctly. Forty-two inches! What a mouth!" But someone else had heard it and said, "No, the announcer had said 4 inches." Well, 4 inches is certainly more like it—even at that, teeth four inches long are pretty terrific!

So that's the way it goes. I never doubted the announcer and repeated it in good faith. I guess most sea serpent yarns start like that. Teeth 42 inches long! I guess I'd better stop repeating what I hear over the radio but I still feel positive he said 42 inches. So much for sea serpent No. 1.

The other one is that old-time, Cadborosaurus that gets into the news every so often. It originated in the Saskatchewan and Clearwater rivers of Alberta, about 75 miles south of Edmonton. That makes it six times in nine years that it has been headline news. Week before last "Caddy," or better known as Old Ogopogo, was again seen, this time by two farmers who said they were together when they saw the fantastic monster. They said that Ogopogo appeared in the Clearwater river about eight miles from Rocky Mountain House and that it snatched up and swallowed a calf grazing near the river's edge.

Another chap said he saw it rear up its great ugly head with huge horns, red eyes and a capacious mouth, and gulp down one of his pet calves. He said he hurled stones at the creature and it dived back into the water. He said there was 10 to 15 feet of him out of the water at the time.

Everybody that sees Old Ogopogo has a different description of it. "Caddy" sometimes has a head like a wolf, with white whiskers, sometimes a single eye in its 30 ft. tail, and sometimes it snorts, and fire shoots from its wide nostrils like a rocket or a meteor—or something.

But let us be serious for a minute. I have just now recalled something else I heard over the air but I had nearly forgotten. That for the first time ever known, there are fish in the Tiber River that flows through Rome, Italy, and the inhabitants regard it as a miracle even though scientists have a laudable explanation for it. They evidently want to regard it as a miracle, so why not let them?

And here's something else that comes back to my remembrance after long years—it may be different now, for this was more than 25 years ago. I was spending a year in B.C., in Vancouver—and one day we were discussing what kind of meat to buy for dinner. I revelled in the wonderful fish we used to have and wasn't much interested but when they asked my opinion direct, I said, "What about a nice roast of pork?" To my surprise my suggestion was received with little enthusiasm—in fact almost with aversion and I wondered why, you may be sure, considering the wonderful roast pork we enjoy here in Ontario. But I was soon enlightened. It seems that certain farmers allowed their pigs to forage along the Fraser River, and they ate salmon that had been left stranded along the bank. I was told that if I ever once ate salmon-flavored pork I'd be off pork for the rest of my life! I quite agree.

Departing Minister Bid Farewell By Congregation

On Sunday, Oct. 27, Rev. E. S. Kerr, popular director of "Youth for Christ" in Newmarket and pastor of Maple Hill Baptist church and the Gospel church, Mount Albert, preached his farewell sermon before leaving to take over the work of Briscoe St. Baptist church, London, Ont.

The morning service at Maple Hill was well attended. Mr. Kerr's message was entitled "The Challenge of Christ," was based on the words of Jesus according to the Gospel of St. John, chap. 21: "Follow thou me." After the service pictures of the Sunday-school classes were taken on the church lawn.

There was a good attendance at the evening service in Mount Albert, many friends from outlying districts being present. The message for Mr. Kerr's closing service was entitled "The Successful Church."

On Wednesday evening a large number of friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McGill, Queensville, for prayer and social fellowship. A recitation, "The Kerrs," composed by Mrs. Merritt of Richmond Hill, was given by Margaret McGill. M. Kennedy, on behalf of the congregation and friends of Maple Hill Baptist church, presented Mr. Kerr with a Bible. Mrs. Kerr was the recipient of a lamp presented by Mrs. R. Gilson, president of the Dorcas Society.

Paul and Donna, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, also received gifts, presented by two small representatives of the Sunday-school. The address, read by Mrs. W. Williams, was as follows: "We are assembled here tonight in your honor. We regret the time has come when you must leave us, however as servants of God, we believe He is leading you out to a larger field of service and in this we rejoice with you."

"During your ministry, Mr. Kerr, we have been blessed and built up in the most holy faith by your faithful preaching of the Word, and we have appreciated your sympathetic understanding of our many problems. As an expression of our love and gratitude to you we take great pleasure in presenting you with this Bible, which we know you will use for His glory."

"To you, Mrs. Kerr, your willingness to help despite the many pressing duties of home, has been an inspiration to us all. Under every circumstance we have found you gracious and ready to co-operate. May the Lord bless you both, also Paul and Donna."

We assure you that the bond of love wrought as we have labored together in the gospel will not be severed by your absence.

As you go on in His loving service, may it please God to give you many precious souls for your hire."

The address was signed on behalf of the congregation and friends of Maple Hill Baptist church.

After the presentations, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr expressed their appreciation and heartfelt thanks.

Clifford Wallwork Tops In Potato Competition
A gold watch, donated by the York County Crop Improvement Association, was presented to Clifford Wallwork, Stouffville, R. 2, at the 500-bushel potato club annual banquet in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Oct. 30. Clifford produced 632 bushels per acre, which was the highest of any of the 10 competing growers this year.

Charlie Hooper of the agricultural committee of the county council, made the presentation.

Previous to the banquet the growers held a potato show in the town hall, Newmarket. Prize-winners in each class were: total yield of potatoes, Clifford Wallwork, Stouffville, R. 2, 632 bushels; Herb Jones, Maple, R. 3, 554 bushels; Everton Goode, Queensville, 540 bushels; John Petrie, Queensville, 520 bushels; Thos. Clarke, Stouffville, R. 2, 513 bushels; the average yield of all contestants was 433.2 bushels per acre.

Highest yield of marketable potatoes (standing on quality): Clifford Wallwork, Stouffville, R. 2, 605 bushels; Herb Jones, Maple, R. 3, 523 bushels; Everton Goode, Queensville, 504 bushels; John Petrie, Queensville, 497 bushels; Arthur Gibson, Richmond Hill, 472 bushels.

Half bushel Canadian Fancy table potatoes: George Price, Mount Albert; Ivan McLaughlin, Stouffville, R. 2; John Petrie, Queensville; Herb Jones, Maple, R. 3; Clifford Wallwork, Stouffville, R. 2.

Best all-round score: Clifford Wallwork, Stouffville, R. 2; Herb Jones, Maple, R. 3; Everton Goode, Queensville; John Petrie, Queensville.

Guest speaker of the evening was A. H. Martin, assistant director of extension of the department of agriculture, who outlined the importance of the potato in modern society.

During the banquet a number of special prizes were donated by commercial companies. Clifford Wallwork and Everton Goode, first and third prize winners in the club, won the Niagara Brand Spray Co. prizes of 250 lbs. commercial dust each.

The same two men also won one-half ton each of 4.8-10 fertilizer donated by Canada Packers Ltd. and presented by Mr. Lynde, salesman for the company.

The United Farmers' Cooperative Co. Ltd. donated a ton of fertilizer to Herb Jones, Maple, R. 3.

Gordon Ough, Newmarket, salesman for C.I.L., presented Herb Jones and John Petrie with

Today, this man walks our streets alive, well and happy. Recently, death reached for him—almost had him. But the miracles of Science proved stronger than the demons of Disease. And this man—a friend of yours, perhaps—became one of the many thousands who owe their lives to modern medical science.

We shall long remember this as the decade that gave us wonder-working drugs—the sulfa derivatives, penicillin, streptomycin; new revolutionary techniques in surgery; improved methods of treating wounds and burns.

DOWN THE CENTRE

By AL. HULSE

The King is dead! We are not referring to individuals for if we were, the matching phrase would be "Long live the King." We refer instead to the passing away of Bucephalus, the top ranking hunter and jumper for nearly a decade on the American continent. Bucephalus went to the equine Valhalla from the farm of his master, Col. R. S. Timm, to whom he was presented by the Canadian government in 1937 after the two had formed a closely-tied affection as members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

From 1941 onward, the big black never had shoes on his feet, but spent his last days in pasture with the odd trip in harness and plenty of chocolate bars and sugar which he dearly loved. He was bought for $175 by the department of militia and became the pet of the "Drags" with his stirring performances. He represented Canada from 1924 to 1933 at the international show in New York and at Boston from 1929-32.

He won more international ribbons than any other Canadian horse has ever won. He won the famous gold cup on at least two occasions, this in the days when stricter rules prevailed. He had the heart of a champion and four out of five times, when tied for first honors, he took the run-off with ease.

The re-opening of the Royal Winter Fair this month brings back memories of many of his triumphs, with Irish, Polish, English, and American army competitors. He has been called "the best touch and out horse ever shown." Intelligent, fond of applause, liking the limelight, and with a great heart, he was a worthy champion. Kinda funny, you say, to write about a hunter in a sports column? Well remember, one of the Cleveland boys once won the trophy for the outstanding sports performance in Canada of the year, and the word "sport" might mean a whole lot more if humans gave all they had every time out without worrying about remuneration or equipment.

The Fall of Paris, or the Wolfe victory at the Plains of Abraham, couldn't have spread much more gloom in Montreal than was pervading the Quebec metropolis when we left it on Sunday. First of all, on Friday night the Toronto Leafs had invaded the Forum and while they only earned a 1-1 tie they looked better than the Habitués, and set the fears afloat again that Les Canadiens have seen their peak days.

Then on Saturday, the skies poured plenty of rain, to spoil what would have been without question, the largest football crowd and gate in the history of Canadian rugby. To cap it all, Argonauts, the underdogs in the betting, squeezed a 9-8 win on a mud-covered field. Then there were the general economic shortages plus a new curfew law for some of the clubs and night spots. "Dose Toronto fellows, dey get one tie, and one win right under our nose. Eet is not right, m'sieur," said the waiter at Slikin and Slotkin's. Yes, sure, those Montrealsers hate dropping a game in any sport to Toronto teams.

Ken Hayman and his proteges had no cause for regret, however, about the outcome of the game, for while 14,500 fans sat in Delormier baseball park, soaked to the hide, another 5,000 folks who didn't go had paid for tickets to read the gross gate to a new Canadian high. If the game had been played on Sunday in good weather, close to 25,000 people would have been on hand.

If they make the play-offs, Alouettes will set an all-time Canadian attendance record. It will be a fine job of promotion for 'until this year, with the exception of McGill University games, rugby drew only around 5,000 fans. Messrs Hayman and Cradock, the operators of the club, ventured the opinion that with professional Sunday football, as many as 50,000 spectators could be obtained regularly in Montreal if there were some place to seat them. Thirty-five thousand crowds for Saturday games in Toronto, once a big new stadium was built, was predicted by Hayman.

In keeping with its cosmopolitan atmosphere and fairly liberal viewpoints on most subjects, Colored boy John Moody, of the Larks is the big sports hero and warmly applauded on every play, Moody has stepped into the shoes of Jackie Robinson of the Royals baseball club. Ches. McCance spoke the words of the entire team when he sent greetings to the Aurora populace. The lads really enjoyed their pre-season training session here and are still talking about the food and the kindness of the people. McCance missed a convert in the dying moments of the game that would have tied the score. It was his 13th try, just in case anybody believes in superstitious mumbo-jumbo, the other 12 having been successful. But the mud was responsible more than anything else.

The Alouettes, we gathered, would rather play Argos in the finals than the Ottawa Roughriders. There seemed no reason except that they figured there were more players to be stopped on the Ottawa club than on Argos. Stopping Joe Krol is quite a task, however. Joe whipped a beautiful forward to Karrys as he sped towards the left side and which caught Montreal cold and just about fooled Argos as well.

In front of Krol were three potential receivers and with interference. To the right was Karrys, all alone, and ready to dangle if he caught the wet ball. Krol faked for the left, and then calmly rifled a short pass to Karrys who went down the foul line without a hand being laid on him. For those who haven't seen the Montreal ball park, it is much the same as the Toronto park, except there are fewer seats under cover and many more box seats. Two-thousand kids were able to purchase a seat in the open stands at two-bits each, unprecedented for Big Four football, but a sure dividend payer for the future. Good seats were being sold on the black market at $10 or more.

Next Saturday, Alouettes come to Toronto and if the field is dry, a great contest should result. Alouettes must win this one to definitely hit the play-offs and we think they're just good enough to do that. There was no Argos money in sight last week but this week it should be different. Andy O'Brien of the Montreal Standard picks the N.H.L. race to finish as follows in this order, Boston, Toronto, Canadiens, Hawks. Wouldn't go any further than that, however. He says Brimsek of Boston is the greatest goalie in the game today and the addition of Babe Pratt has strengthened the Clapper team. The Leafs, he says, with 12 players under 25 years of age, will be able to last the best of all over the 60-game schedule. Canadiens are finally showing the result of three higher years. Age will do what no team could do. Hawks will be fourth because Rangers and Redbirds aren't able to go higher. Those are O'Brien's opinions, not ours.

Frank Selke, however, makes no bones about it that there'll be changes made in the lineup. He doesn't know where to start, however. More Montreal hits at a later date.

Connie Smythe, on Saturday, via the ether waves, blamed too much amusement, too much drinking, too much smoking, too many good times as the reason why Toronto was not turning out better hockey players, capable of catching on with the Leafs. Cliff Simpson, Detroit, is the only rookie from Toronto this season in the N.H.L. There are some Torontonians, however, in the N.H.L. as witness: Bill Durnan, Jim Conacher, Roy Conacher, Bert Quackenbush, Reg Hamilton, Jack Crawford and Bill Shill. Over the years the number of Toronto boys to make the grade has been definitely on the wane.

Smythe may be right in his reasoning, but aside from that comes the fact that many of the boys pick up ice-sugar in mercantile while holding down jobs, as well as playing amateur for near-pro figures elsewhere. The fact is, too, that proportionately a big city like Toronto sent a high quota of its athletes to the armed forces, and many of the boys who might have made the grade are past their prime now. Another reason is that the Leafs have only given lip service to real Toronto teams, but have brought in outsider after outsider for the more highly backed teams.

The Colville Brothers, Mac and Neil, now playing on defence for New York Rangers, make the first brother combination ever to play together as a combination in the N.H.L. history. Doug and Mux Bentley of the Hawks and Terry and Ken Reardon of Canadiens and Boston, are the only other brother combination in the league. But there have been quite a few, the Patricks (two generations), Conachers, Jacksons, Bruneteaus, Cooks, Broadbents, Carsons, Metz's, to name a few.

Closer to home, the hockey picture begins to take shape. Aurora Junior C hockey club appears to be a reality. You still can't pin down the Lions officials. On Sunday last, around 25 players paid their own way to cavort on the ice at Barrie and reported a good workout. The players were all from the juvenile and midget Lions teams of the past few years.

If Aurora does play junior hockey, it will be joined by Billy Mundell who is prepared to leave the Marlboros Junior "B" team to play with Aurora. Mundell was at the practice and of course has quite a bit of condition on the rest. Don't be surprised if Aurora will be joined by other Hill players. There is close harmony between Aurora and the Hill, cemented by this summer's baseball, and several of the Hill team will doubtless want to play in Aurora.

A dog-fight with Stouffville may develop over certain players. By mileage Aurora is the closer, as was proved more than once in the past to the O.H.A. executive. The situation will probably clear within a few days time; meanwhile, Aurora kids are counting on junior C hockey, and Leonard Simmons and Del Babcock are getting keenly interested. They'll be at the boiling point soon.

Newmarket merchants, not to be outdone by the vets, have gathered a pretty fair club together and last week made their debut at Barrie arena. Mickey Smith and Don Sweet were in the nets and Sweet, a newcomer to town, looked pretty neat. (He is also a better than average southpaw pitcher.) Joe Peat made a surprise appearance with Merchants and it is said he will leave Zephyr this winter and remain with the Merchants. "Pink" Tunstead and Harry Caradonna, who played with Barrie Colts last winter, Duke Dennis and ex-coach Cliff Gunn provided the blue-line bashing, and there's quite a bit of talent there. Peat should add strength and experience, and his loss to Zephyr will be a serious one.

Up front, there were such battlers as Murph Jelley, Barney Bishop, Ken Broughton, Ken Thoms, Jack Davis, Ken Russell, Bob Smith, Harry Hill and Bruce Greig working out. That's a mighty fair looking outfit for the town league set-up, and for a real addition, the Merchants have secured a new coach in the person of Father McCabe, the new pastor at St. John's church, Newmarket. Father McCabe was at Barrie for the first practice and impressed the team with his ability. In case you've forgotten, a few years ago this same priest was the coach of the Orangeville junior hockey club which captured the junior "C" title in 1938 with Aurora Consols as opposition. He will be a valuable addition to sports in canaltown.

Jack Wheeler, ye olde sultan of swoosh of the Newmarket camp hockey defence, now resident in his native Collingwood, had a narrow escape from drowning not long ago. Wheeler, with a pal, was out in Collingwood harbor fishing for pike when a squall capsized the dinghy. Wheeler was in army pants, army boots and heavy windbreaker. He was forced to swim 700 yards in ice cold water to safety and collapsed from cold and exhaustion as he reached shore. He had to abandon his windbreaker in the last 100 yards. Jack expects to play with Collingwood intermediates once again.

News comes from Stratford of two ex-camp hockeyists, now located in the classic city. They are both from the Soo, and terrific producers on the scoring end. They are Walter Zuke, speedboy of the 1944 team, ex-New Haven and Buffalo, and Terry Bloch, who led the town league last winter in scoring and was the outstanding player on the camp team. Both boys are playing senior O.H.A. with Stratford, Zuke being re-instated to the amateur ranks last week. At the same O.H.A. meeting, Chuck Shannon also received his O.K. to play Simon Pure. Joe Feeney, who played baseball and softball for Newmarket but not hockey is with New Westminster Royals in the coast league. Joe performed for Armored Corps, champions of Camp Borden, and last winter was with North Worth of the American Association.

Service Clubs Fill Need In All Parts In War, Peace

By MIRIAM RYMAN

Throughout countless cities, towns and villages of our empire, branches of service clubs have united all peoples in a common good cause. Food, clothing and entertainment have been given to our armed forces and to homeless families in that dreary time when peace seemed so far away. Now that peace has been here for almost two years, some of these clubs are still helping families over there.

Perhaps one of the most glamorous of the service clubs was the famous U.S.O. Neither effort nor expense was spared to provide the boys with the best food and entertainment. Movie stars toured Europe, regardless of danger and personal discomfort, and their shows raised the morale of the troops. The stars asked no other reward than the laughter of the troops. Music, both popular and classical, was provided for the boys by famous orchestras such as those of Glen Miller and Andre Kostelanetz. The armed services could not have done without these bright spots in the ghastly business of war.

Remarkable work was done by the Red Cross, which followed on the heels of the forces, supplying them with hot coffee, doughnuts, writing paper and gum, in addition to their cheery news from home. Red Cross doctors, nurses, ambulances and hospitals saved the lives of thousands of men and usually under very unsuitable conditions. They maintained a steady flow of letters from home to the boys and many a distraught family has had its missing son traced through the contacts of the Red Cross. Parcels were sent to their branch in Switzerland and forwarded to prisoners of war.

Many families, deprived of even the bare necessities of life, were provided with food, clothing and shelter by the Red Cross. They took charge of war brides and their babies who were crossing to Canada. All this is a mere outline of the accomplishments of this vast organization which works under the symbol of a Red Cross.

The Lions club is another service club which truly lives up to its motto, Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety. This is another of the clubs which sent food and clothing to British war victims. It made large donations to the various organizations devoted to aiding Europe and sent cigarettes to our boys over there. Aside from all its war duties, the club continued with its general welfare at home.

The impressive place that the club holds in national and international affairs is shown by the fact that it was well represented at the Paris Peace Conference. The members of this famous and extensive men's club deserve much praise for their work.

Other service clubs, such as the St. John's Ambulance Corps, Womads (wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of the services), and I.O.D.E. have done no less praiseworthy work in the war. The St. John's Ambulance Corps, a group of volunteer workers who pledged themselves to aiding the wounded, did an excellent job. Womads and I.O.D.E. entertained the boys and gave generously of their time and talents to send them the little comforts which meant so much to them.

Children, too, did their part in serving others in their clubs such as the Junior Red Cross, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. They knitted, sewed, collected precious scrap metal and rubber and bought War Savings Stamps during the war. They showed that one cannot learn too early the spirit of service.

Without exception, these clubs were pledged to the services of others, doing their part to relieve the suffering of the armed services and the civilian population of devastated areas.

MARK EDUCATION WEEK WITH OPEN NIGHT

On Monday evening the pupils and teachers of St. John's school observed Education Week by holding an open night in St. John's separate school. The walls in each of the rooms were decorated with art and other examples of the children's work. From 7.15 to 8.15 p.m. the rooms were open for inspection.

At 8.15 p.m. the visitors assembled in the senior room for a program prepared by the pupils. Murray MacDonald acted as master of ceremonies. The entertainment consisted of choruses, recitations, piano solos, novelty dances, a coronet solo, three dialogues and the rhythm band. A dialogue acted by Gloria Walsh, Betty Daly and Kenneth Cassavoy entitled The Sick Doll convulsed the audience with laughter.

At the close of the program Bernard McFall commented on the night's entertainment and congratulated the sisters and pupils on their work in producing the show.

RUGBY FIELD HAS ITS FACE LIFTED

The rugby field at Newmarket high school has been rolled and freshly marked this year. The work was done by Tom Dooley, Don Brown and Gary Proctor. The boys had a hard time finding line, and before they finally procured some at Pickering, they had travelled to Aurora, to Mr. Lockhart, and the feed store. The pacing off and setting up of the standards was done by Tom, and Don Brown (captain of the rugby team) and Gary Proctor painted the lines. The boys thought the field was "swell." Ruby sweaters, which have been badly needed for some time, have been very kindly donated to the team by J. B. Waterhouse. The new sweaters are green and gold. The team greatly appreciates Mr. Waterhouse's generosity.—Miriam Ryman.

400 SCHOOL CHILDREN STAGE COLORFUL SHOW

Aurora public school kids enjoyed their annual frolic on Tuesday evening, and the 400 youngsters on parade presented a colorful panorama to the spectators and parents who crowded Aurora streets. The parade was headed by the Aurora Boys' Band and Aurora Scouts as usual acted as guides. The judges in the various classrooms had a difficult time deciding the issue as Robin Reid, Red Riding Hood, Superstar, Charlie McCarthy, hoboes, brides, hula girls, kings, queens, gypsies, commandos, and even the mummy, and even the mysterious Mr. Kilroy paraded before them.

Prizewinners were: Grade 8 (J. McDonald), boys, Charles Martin, John Martin, C. Long; girls, Eldene Ellis, Barbara Scott, Lois Morrison;

Howard Norris, ex-Aurora resident, is again manager of Barrie Flyers in Junior A ranks. The Barrie team got off to a good start by downing Stratford on Friday night. Incidentally, there are only two Barrie boys on the club, Jimmy Strachan, the netminder, and his understudy. Timmins has supplied five players, Toronto and North Bay two each, while the others come from Kirkland Lake, Copper Cliff and other points. There's hardly a junior "A" team that doesn't count most of its players as imports.

Statements Published At Year's End--Council

As a result of a lengthy debate on the question of a by-law to cover debentures on the proposed new Aurora public school, Aurora town councillors were only able to pass accounts, hear communications read and deal with three delegations before adjourning at 11:40. Council got under way at 8:15. Only four members were present and one more was needed for a quorum at 8 p.m., the regular starting time.

Council will meet on Monday, Nov. 11, at 8 p.m., at what may be their final session of the year before nomination day. There is a large agenda.

Mayor Ross Linton advised council as the meeting closed that, under the new provisions of the Municipal Act it was not necessary to hold a final council meeting on November 15, or to issue a financial statement at nomination meeting based on the town's financial year to November 15.

"I would prefer to have the public have the full picture when they get their financial statements," said the mayor. "I suggest that it would be better to publish a full statement at the end of the year, which the ratepayers could obtain, rather than try to guess at figures. This year our year is based on December 15 as in other years. With the change in the election date it will have to be adjusted next year."

Council was unanimous in agreeing to the mayor's proposal.

Bowling Club Looks For Many New Members In '47

After hearing a delegation comprised of president Irwin Watts, secretary-treasurer Charles Bilbrough and Harry Corner, Aurora council voted to absorb a deficit of $56.97 sustained by the Aurora bowling club during the past year.

President Watts outlined the difficulties that the club had worked under. The power roller had broken down, curtailing the season. Help had been hard to get. As a result the faithful 18 members had not been able to obtain the expected number of new members to bolster the club. Through the co-operation of the Newmarket Bowling club two tournaments were successfully staged at Newmarket to help matters financially. Next year heavy expenditures are to be faced but the officers hope for a better year.

Mr. Corner praised the work done by the bowlers in beautifying the area over the years and pointed to what it would have cost the town to care for this property themselves. He stressed the value of bowling tournaments as good advertising for the town. The land to the west of the bowling green might well be made into a playground for small children, he said. He suggested a grant of $100 be made the club.

"I think you ought to put on a big membership drive," said the mayor. "You need to popularize the game and get new members as well as accomplished players. We like to see bowling continued and hope you will be able to work things out."

Among financial items passed by council were $51.84 for metal street signs, $807.30 for a culvert for Gurnett St., $48.80 for work done under the supervision of Leonard Simmons at the town park on the baseball diamond, and $140.80 engineer's fees for W. C. Redfern.

Aurora And Hill Play Scoreless Soccer Game

Aurora high school and Richmond Hill high school soccer eleven's battled to a scoreless tie in a hard fought game at the Hill on Monday. Keith Kyle, the Aurora goalie, played a standout game, saving the situation on many occasions. Aurora was minus Ron Simmons and John King. Andrews, Urquhart, and Johnson earned three-star awards for Aurora, with Panke, Gamble and Clement the best for the homesters.

The Aurora team scored a 3-0 win over St. Andrew's College on the latter's field on Thursday afternoon to take over the leadership of the North York interscholastic loop.

Bill Mundell notched the only tally of the first half, driving a fast one past Edmonds, the College goalie, who was one of the stars of the game.

In the second half, Aurora tallied from the toes of Kingston and Monkman. St. Andrew's were not outclassed as the score indicates, but deserved at least a goal on the play. R. Simmons, Urquhart, Mundell, starred for Aurora.

Aurora public school junior soccer team scored its second straight win last Friday as they whitewashed Pickering College juniors 5-0. Previously they had defeated St. Andrew's juniors 4-2. Ash, C. Marston, C. Sutton, D. Milne and Fines were the Aurora goal-getters.

The A.P.S. line-up was: goal, Lynn Easterbrook; backs, Bob Warlow, Pat Davies; halves, Andy Closs (capt.), Ed. Summerville, Walter Fines; forwards, Ron Ash, Charles Sutton, Don Milne, Ed. Marston, Chas. Marston.

NEWMARKET JUNIORS DEFEAT S.A.C. FOR FIFTH VICTORY

After a hard-fought game on Monday, N.H.S. juniors defeated St. Andrews by a score of 15-12. The game was played at Newmarket. The Newmarket boys were just a little too fast for the heavier college team. The first six points went to St. Andrews, from a touchdown and a convert.

Jim Rutledge and Laurie Thoms came back with one touchdown each but failed to convert on either of them. St. Andrews scored again by recovering the ball behind the Newmarket line. With only one minute to go, Stallard Waterhouse received a long forward from Laurie Thoms to chalk up the decisive points which gave Newmarket the victory. This is the juniors' fifth straight win in five starts. — By Ken Budd.

Aurora's population, which only includes permanent residents, is 3,056. There are 538 children of school age and the canine population totals 223. Deaths numbered 28 and births 45 during the past year.

By comparison with the present figures, Mr. Taylor quoted those of 1923, when he started on the job. In that year, the total assessment was $1,528,795. The population was 2,596. There were 105 dogs. Births totalled 34 and deaths 19.

"I don't know whether or not the change from spring to fall assessment was a wise one," said Mr. Taylor. "Many people are away on holidays in July and August and the assessor has to make a good many trips over again. There is no guess work about my report. I see them all and report what they tell me. I will be glad to co-operate with whoever is appointed. My present remuneration considering the time involved isn't much more than 40 cents an hour," he said.

"I want you to know that Aurora appreciates your 18 years of faithful service," said Mayor Ross Linton. "You have always been a steady influence and your opinions have always been valued. You have carefully and successfully carried out your duties as an assessor and as a citizen."

Monday, Nov. 18, was set as the date for the court of revision with the mayor, reeve, deputy-revee and Councillor A. N. Fisher comprising the court.

Mr. And Mrs. T. Collett Celebrate Anniversary

On Sunday the immediate family of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collett, Wellington St., gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Collett to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, which becomes official today.

Mr. and Mrs. Collett resided here for 20 years, having originally come from Swindon, England. Since coming to Canada, Mr. Collett has spent most of his time in gardening and horticulture, and lately was employed at the R.C.O. depot. He is now retired. He is 73 and Mrs. Collett is 69. Both are active for their age.

They are members of Trinity Anglican church. They have 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Of their family of six, Stanley resides at Acton, and Edward and Mrs. Alfred Heard in Aurora. Two children are in England, and one is in South Africa.

The tea table was beautifully decorated with bronze and yellow mums, and Mrs. Collett cut a large wedding cake. Gifts were received by the couple from the members of the family.

Aurora Hobby Display Attracts Large Crowd

The Aurora Hobby Show staged last Saturday attracted capacity crowds, and proved to be an interesting and educational event. The booths were all attractively arranged, and there was something to appeal to the tastes of everyone.

The nature study display, under Mrs. Vivian Wilcox and Mrs. C. J. Devins, the art exhibit under Bertram Wilson and Murray Oliver, the leatherwork under Mrs. Thomas Dann, the books and bibles under Mrs. G. W. Williams and Miss Vivian Wilcox, china and bisques under Mrs. W. C. King and Mrs. J. H. Knowles and the wood-working display under Roland Middle attracted many people.

Model aircraft, and a display of stamps by the Canadian Philatelic Society especially appealed to the juveniles. Mrs. Carol Proctor as guest speaker in the evening gave a splendid address.

TOWN HELD RESPONSIBLE

Mrs. M. B. Proctor advised council on Monday that she had tripped and fallen on the sidewalk on Tyler St. because of the condition of the sidewalk. She said that she was holding the municipality liable for expenses incurred. The municipality is covered by insurance in such cases and council passed the matter on to the company.

New Public School To Be Voted On At Dec. 9 Election

On Monday, Dec. 9, in addition to whatever elections may be held for municipal offices, Aurora taxpayers will vote on the question of approving the creation of a new public school some time in the future. The Aurora public school board in a written request, asked council to pass a by-law to provide $285,000 for a new school, and to send the by-law to the Ontario municipal board. School trustees present at the meeting urged council to adopt the other alternative of putting the matter to the vote of the people, if council did not wish to forward the matter on to municipal board of its own accord.

Upon motion of Councillors Dr. Crawford Rose and Stewart Patrick, the following resolution was passed: "That the figure of $285,000 for debentures for a new school be taken to the electorate of Aurora as a money by-law in the forthcoming election." Subsequently the necessary by-law to cover advertising and the taking of the vote was passed.

Nearly two hours was taken up discussing the request of the school board. Chairman Dr. C. J. Devins, Trustees Mrs. Robert Hodgkinson, Herbert Stocks, and Howard Bunn and Inspector O. M. McKillop were present to go into details with the council.

The figure of $285,000 is the top figure we would spend for a new school, including equipment and the building of an auditorium," Dr. Devins said. "I don't think we will need that amount, but we have to have an approximate figure to place before the municipal board. None of the trustees are in favor of spending more than is necessary, but we can't get a tender until the board approves, and we can only get to the municipal board through council. I would personally oppose very strongly any amount over $285,000. I think we can get the school built for less. I wouldn't vote to approve any contract over that figure."

"Would it not be a good thing to hold a public meeting to get the opinion of the town? I don't think many are familiar with what is planned," Councillor Rose said.

"We want to get council's decision so we will know where we stand. We have to come to you," said Dr. Devins. "We will acquaint the public with all the details."

"Is the board anxious to build next year?" asked Deputy-revee Cook.

"We can't see any drop coming in the school attendance, so we are anxious to get started and get all our pupils under one roof, but we aren't going to spend any money foolishly. I am absolutely against building on a cost plus basis. I don't think either the department of education, or the municipal board would approve of any such plan," said Dr. Devins.

The present plans call for a 14-room school, complete with offices and cloak rooms, 160' x 98', north of the present school. The old school would be occupied until the new school was ready, and then the old school would be demolished leaving the present 60'x98' foundation intact upon which would be built the school gymnasium, complete with auditorium, according to Dr. Devins.

"Could you not build a small unit, and then add to it as you need it?" asked Councillor A. N. Fisher. "Building costs are very high now."

Board members explained that

Trustee Herbert Stocks expressed the hope that the school would be built for less than $285,000, and stressed the value of manual training in the school with resulting departmental grants. "There are many ways we can cut down our operating costs," he said.

Trustee Howard Bunn said he was in favor of the auditorium being used at night by the entire community. Tenders would be called for publicly. The auditorium would not be built until after the school was completed.

"I can't blame council for sending the matter on to the people. Let those who favor a new school get behind the by-law, and explain the facts," said Dr. Devins.

Figures submitted by the mayor on the basis of 20-year debentures at three percent brought the annual debenture payments for a new school to $20,000, with the government paying a portion, perhaps as high as 50 percent.

Prizewinners were: original, Gordon Mesley as Cicero, Gay Morning as "Miss Headliner of 1946"; comical, Don Watson as Young Lady, Jim Stocks as the absent-minded professor; fancy, Ruth Knowles as East Indian Princess, Bill Linton as "the dude", Marjorie Pattenden as Colonial Lady.

Mr. Kenneth Mitchell, brother of the bride, acted as best man. At the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a grey dress and a corsage of red roses, assisted by the groom's mother wearing a mauve dress with corsage of pink roses.

Urges Citizens To Buy
Flowers Of Remembrance

George Calver, secretary of the Mount Albert and district branch of the Canadian Legion, has issued the following statement:

The Mount Albert and district branch of the Canadian Legion is holding its annual Poppy Day collection on Nov. 9 and the public is asked to give it full support. From time to time, people remark "Just where is all the money going that we pay out for poppies?" It is a natural question, but the legion believes in doing its good work in a quiet and unobtrusive manner.

To advertise the individual cases benefitted by it would cause pain and embarrassment. However, you, the public, are entitled to know in what manner the funds are disposed of and this explanation, I hope, will serve to enlighten you. The appeal for funds is not made on behalf of the legion or its members but on behalf of all ex-service men who are in need.

The collection and administration of the fund has been entrusted to the Canadian Legion. It is kept entirely separate and is not even treated as a part of the legion relief fund. It is rather considered as a trust fund which the legion administers for the benefit of all ex-service men and women.

In granting assistance, members of the legion receive no special preference but all veterans stand on an equal footing. Any one who served and is in legitimate need may benefit from this fund. The poppies that you are asked to buy are made by disabled veterans who, but for this industry, would be a charge on public funds. The organization of Poppy Day, the sale of poppies and wreaths, the handling of monies collected, the investigation and relief of all applicants, are done by voluntary workers. No man or woman connected in any way with Poppy Day, receives one cent as wages, salary, bonus, commission or any form of remuneration. All monies are placed in a special account which is controlled by a board of trustees of this branch.

The blood red poppy is called the Flower of Remembrance because it grows in great numbers on the shattered and torn battlefields of France and Flanders. It covered the first rough graves of our soldier dead. This Flanders poppy is a sacred emblem, a symbol by which we remember that Canada helped to keep safe the things we value—Justice, Liberty, and Faith.

Crafts Now Taught
By Home And School

Mrs. Ted Mitchell gave a demonstration last week, in the Domestic Science room of the Stuart Scott school, of interest to home-makers. She taught the making of bread, and plain and fancy rolls. The grocers report an increased sale of yeast cakes as a result.

Plans are under way for a series of demonstrations in homecraft, including making of pastries, cakes, fancy sandwiches, etc. The proceeds from this first project are being used to purchase materials for the work of the Junior Arts and Craft Groups which meet on Saturday afternoons in the Boy Scout Hall. This class has a registration of over 50 children, and is in the charge of Mrs. E. Mitchell, Miss R. Ferguson, and Mrs. G. D. Ghent.

Classes in smocking and glove work have started, but enrolment has been discontinued until present lists are arranged for. We are now planning a twelve-lesson course in leathercraft for early in the new year. We need 12 entries for an afternoon class and 12 for an evening class. This course was given in Barrie and Orillia last year and was considered profitable.

An opportunity sale will be held in the Boy Scout Hall on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 23. Any donation of used children's clothing, which is still wearable, will be appreciated.

The next meeting of the Home and School Association is on Nov. 27. Watch for announcements of the basket salvage. The need for used baskets is great as no new baskets are available.

AT THE THEATRE

TILL THE END OF TIME
By BERNICE SCOTT

This will be the main feature at the Strand Theatre on Nov. 13,
14. Guy Madison and Dorothy
McGuire have the leading roles.
As a piece of music, Till the End of Time is a somewhat sad-ed ballad. In a way, this film makes similar sad demands, for it tells in terms of one returning soldier, how difficult many must find re-entry into civilian life.

Here the veteran, Pfc. Guy
Madison of the U.S. Marine Corps, returns home after three years of action in the Pacific.
Home for him is Los Angeles, and the town looks as wonderful as he expected. His homecoming is a complete surprise, and, like all surprises, there is always something which goes wrong.
Madison discovers his parents are not home. In order to kill time he goes to the hang-out of his old gang, seeking the familiar scene and friendly welcome.
He meets his best friend, a pilot in the U.S. Naval Air Force, who introduces Madison to Dorothy McGuire, who is the widow of an aviator. Madison immediately falls in love with her. Out of loyalty to the missing husband, he tries to forget her but finds it impossible.

After weeks of mooning, Madison accepts a position at the factory where Dorothy McGuire works. Because of the fact that Miss McGuire is keeping him at a distance, he becomes ill-tempered and immediately has an argument with his foreman and is dismissed. Finally he takes stock of himself, gets his job back, receives a promotion, and wins the lovely Miss McGuire.
Of course there is the usual
bobby-soxer who lives next door who naturally falls in love with Guy. She jumps in and out of the plot every few minutes.

Orchids for the director who has accented post-war employment, racial prejudice, individual courage and romance, in this one hundred percent movie,
Till the End of Time.

NIGHT AND DAY
By EILEEN JACKSON

Night and Day will thrill all admirers of Cole Porter's music.
Filmed in glorious technicolor, this story of the life of one of America's best known composers is a "must" for Newmarket movie goers.
The story itself is not entirely true to life. The plot centres around Cole's struggle to win fame in the music world. Against the wishes of his uncle, Cole breaks away from the study of law at Yale (which, by the way, he never attended). The complete flop of his first musical show, his career in the army in France, (which is cut short by a leg wound), his marriage to a childhood sweetheart, and his final triumph and recognition as a great song composer, provide a fascinating story.

However, it is the music itself which provides the main interest.
Catchy tunes such as You're the Tops, My Heart belongs to Daddy, and Let's Do It, are not soon forgotten.

The treatment of Begin the Beguine is especially thrilling, but the musical climax comes at the end of the show when a massed boy's choir sings the immortal
Night and Day.

This glorious musical panorama is one to be remembered night and day.

LITTLE RED SCHOOL

The term, little red schoolhouse, is derived from an old custom now long forgotten.
Schoolhouses were once painted red, not through preference for the color but because red paint was the cheapest kind obtainable.

CAMEOS OF THE DRAMA
HAILED BY AUDIENCE

A notable evening of dramatic entertainment was enjoyed at Bellhaven hall on Nov. 1 when Dickson-Kenwin, the well known character actor, presented his program entitled "Cameos of the Drama." This veteran of the stage, who played his first dramatic part in England 51 years ago, gave characterizations from Shakespeare and Dickens which closely held the attention of a fair-sized audience.

It would be a matter of opinion as to whether his finest number of the evening was Cardinal Wolsey, from Henry VIII; the dagger scene from Macbeth; Jacques, from As You Like
It; or Ebenezer Scrooge, from Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

The patriotic speech of King Henry V to his troops before the battle of Harfleur won loud applause. Because many have seen the current film of this play there was some opportunity for comparison. Mr. Dickson-Kenwin underwent the comparison admirably and revealed here, as in other numbers, that he was trained and matured in the finest traditions of the Shakespearean and Dickensian stages of England.

From Dickens he also gave Micawber and Uriah Heep; from Shakespeare, Sir John Falstaff, Prospero and Caliban. His performance in the dream scene from "The Bells," a play made famous by Sir Henry Irving years ago, was outstanding. He saw the great actor do this scene many times for he played with him, in another part.

Modern poetry, including Kipling's "If," and some comedy numbers rounded out the program. Rev. J. T. Rhodes played the incidental music and accompaniments.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Wilson, formerly of Orchard Beach and now residing in Toronto, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Ryan Switzer, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Switzer are sisters.

Misses Lillian and Patti Connell were home for the weekend.
Lakeside Women's Institute acted as hostesses for a Halloween party which centred in Keeswick school. Prizes were given for the best comic and fancy costumes. The grand march was the first item on the program.
The scavenger hunt, in which teams of children scoured the village for certain articles and certain items of information, aroused great enthusiasm. Eating apples suspended from strings, hunting apples' outside the school building, singing games and a soda biscuit eating relay for the older children rounded out the program. Refreshments were those universal favorites, hot dogs, with apples and cookies to fill in the cracks.

The Institute is to be congratulated on carrying through a project which was welcomed by children and parents and which provided a real good time.

Halloween was quite a day in the village. In the afternoon, both senior and junior rooms of the public school held their parties. Then, from four o'clock until seven everyone was busy preparing costumes for the grand march. So busy were some of the contestants that they could not make all their annual, shell-out calls at homes.

be held in Keeswick United

In Memoriam

Fairbairn—In loving memory of my dear father, George Fairbairn, who passed away November 5, 1930, and my dear mother, Isabella Fairbairn, who passed away November 10, 1940.
God took them home; it was His will.
But in my heart they liveth still.
Ever remembered by daughter, Rosa.

Lepard—In loving memory of my dear husband, Chas. A. Lepard, who passed away November 10, 1943.
God called him home, it was His will.
But in my heart I love him still; His memory is as dear today As in the hour he passed away.
I often sit and think of him When I am all alone.
For memory is the only thing That grief can call its own.
Ever remembered by his wife.

Liscomb—In loving memory of a dear daughter, Joan Liscomb, who passed away November 7, 1944, in her 18th year.
Beside your grave I often stand With heart both crushed and sore,
But in the gloom the sweet words come,
"Not lost, but gone before".
God knows how much I miss you.
He counts the tears I shed, And whispers, "She only sleeps, Your loved one is not dead".
So I'll be brave, dear Joanie, And pray to God each day And when He calls me home to you Your smile will guide the way.
Always lovingly remembered and sadly missed by mother.

Liscomb—In loving memory of a dear sister, Joan Liscomb, who passed away November 7, 1944.
Time speeds on, two years have passed Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and always will.
Her vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
Sadly missed by sister, Joyce, and brother-in-law, George.

McGhee—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William McGhee, who passed away November 4, 1944.
Not just today, but every day In silence we remember.
Sadly missed by his wife and daughter, Myrtle.

McGhee—In loving memory of a loving son and brother, Bill McGhee, who passed away November 5, 1944.
There is a family, dear Bill, who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went;
And we think of you daily and hourly
But try to be brave and content,
But the tears that we shed are in silence
And we breathe a sigh of regret;
For you were ours and we remember
Though all the world forget.
If all the world were ours
We would give it, yes, and more,
To see that loving face of yours Come smiling through our door.
Too dearly loved to be forgotten, mother, sisters and brothers.

Main Street Sees Many Changes In Business Life

By Don W. Wilson

Within the next two months, Newmarket will see the addition of at least four new stores, all owned by former N.H.S. students. These new stores include the introduction of McCaffrey's Flowers, owned and operated by Gene McCaffrey; Ang. West's men's and children's shoe and haberdashery shop, and the change in the location of Elman Campbell's book store and of Evan's Furs.

Mr. McCaffrey, formerly of R. M. Staines Flowers, Toronto, has rented one of Bill Koshe's stores on Timothy St. opposite the bus station. Mr. McCaffrey expects to have his flower shop open for business by Nov. 15.

Arthur D. Evans will have opened his new office in this same building on Nov. 9. Mr. Evans jokingly added that this change would not affect the scarcity of fuel in the least. A new position does not mean more coal.

Another man, well known around Newmarket as "Ang", has opened his own business. Before he went overseas, he was the editor of the Newmarket Express-Herald. "Ang" West has his shoe and haberdashery shop on the premises opposite the post office. The store opening in October was postponed, but now Mr. West, having opened on Nov. 4, has his business in full swing.

Mr. Elman Campbell of Newmarket has purchased the Bolton Book and Pastry Shop and, since he must be out of his present location by March 15, he expects to open his new store

DEFEAT PICKERING 2-1
On Monday, Oct. 28, the N.H.S. juniors defeated Pickering College by 22-0 in a one-sided game. Pickering made a good showing in the first quarter, but lacked the endurance to hold back the steady drive of the Redmen. Grant Ford collected two touchdowns in intercepting passes both times. Thoms converted both of the touchdowns. Ken Budd and Laurie Thoms were the outstanding point getters.

Letters to the editor are always welcome. If you have something on your mind, write it down and send it to the editor.

As we bow our heads on Remembrance Day, let us give thought not only to the dead but to the living. Let it not be only a day of remembrance, but also a day of re-dedication to the task of doing all we can to make up to the veteran what he freely gave for us.

Let us show an unanimity of purpose. Let every man, woman and child wear a poppy on Saturday. Your contribution will be used by veterans to administer to the needs of their less fortunate comrades.

EDITOR'S NOTE

The list of veterans of the first great war and the second great war which appears on this page was obtained from the town office. It is the most complete list we have been able to obtain. If there are any errors or omissions, Wesley Brooks, town clerk, would appreciate it if the corrections were given him at the town office.—Editor

It is a good and very old custom to set aside a day in the year to remember and revere the memory of those who fell in defence of their country. The custom assumes greater importance when the sacrifice is made for justice and liberty and thus transcending patriotism.

In the stress and strain of the economic struggle, there is often an impatient attitude towards the soldier returning to his civilian occupation. It is sometimes forgotten that he must have time to catch up the lost years. He does not want sympathy, nor is it good for him, but tolerance and patience are needed. Is this too much to ask?

K. M. R. Stiver, president,
Newmarket Branch, Canadian Legion.

Without Loss All Year, Girls' Squad '46 Champs

The N.H.S. senior girls' basketball team was undefeated in 1946. It won the interschool championship in the league with Aurora and Richmond Hill. Home and away from home games were played. The final standing was:

Newmarket	4	0
Richmond Hill	2	2
Aurora	0	4

Florence Walker, the captain, was the highest scorer on the team. Florence's sensational shots and Mary Shank's all-round ability accounted for many of our victories. Eileen Jackson, Dorothy Sprague, Bertha Brown and Beverley Bartholomew also played well on the forward line.

The outstanding defense players were Ruth Hill, Marion Rose and Beth King. Ruth Wilmet's quickness, Marg Proctor's speed and Lois Marritt's steady playing were important factors in our wins.

The most exciting game of the season was the one with Richmond Hill. The play was fast and thrilling. The final score was 21-20, which indicates the type of game it was.

These girls deserve great credit for the excellent manner in which they played. They set a record which will be hard to beat.

N.H.S. GYM REVAMPED

A shining, spotless gym greeted our eager athletes this fall on their return to school. All tracks left by the wartime running shoes and air cadets have been removed and the floor sanded and varnished. New baskets, which were badly needed, were supplied by the high school board. With the new floor markings, the silver paint on the railings and the pale blue walls, our gym is one to be proud of. It is up to the students to keep it as clean and bright as it is now.—Phyllis Winch.

Jr., Sr. Hoopla Squads Drop Only One Game Each In '46

The junior and senior basketball teams of 1946 had one of the best years in the school's history. Both teams with powerful offensive plays and solid defensive tactics came through the season with high honors. Each team lost one game and altogether they chalked up eight victories out of a possible ten. The coach, Mr. Lockhart, had his boys well trained and they showed it when they met strong opposition.

The junior team got off to a poor start by losing the first game to Richmond Hill. After this there was no stopping Newmarket High. Don Brown, Dan Bovair, and Doug Ross formed the powerful forward line with Jack Sproston and Keith Walton on defense. Doug Wilson, Bill Ewing, and Laurie Thoms were quite capable of putting on a brilliant performance. Three of the juniors made the all-star team with players being picked from five different school teams. Junior line-up: Don Brown (captain), Dan Bovair, Doug Ross, Doug Wilson, Bill Ewing, Jack Sproston, and Laurie Thoms.

JR. GIRLS HOOPLA SQUAD '46 CHAMPS

BY PAT DUNCAN
The junior girls, following the excellent example of the seniors, won the championship in the basketball league of 1946, playing against Richmond Hill and Aurora high schools. Our girls started the 1946 season by defeating Aurora at Newmarket. Travelling to Richmond Hill, the purple and gold girls tied them in a close battle. At Aurora they suffered a defeat, but made up for this when they defeated Richmond Hill at Newmarket and won the title. The line-up of the 1946 team was: forwards; Arlene McTavish, Audrey Rowland, Helen Magdy, Joyce Hargreaves, Pearl Gunn, Jean Squires, Lynn Thompson, Pat Duncan; defence; Jean Webster, Barbara Pritchard, Helen Epworth, Marilyn Spears, Mary Ellen McGinnis, Betty Alder, Isabel Walker.

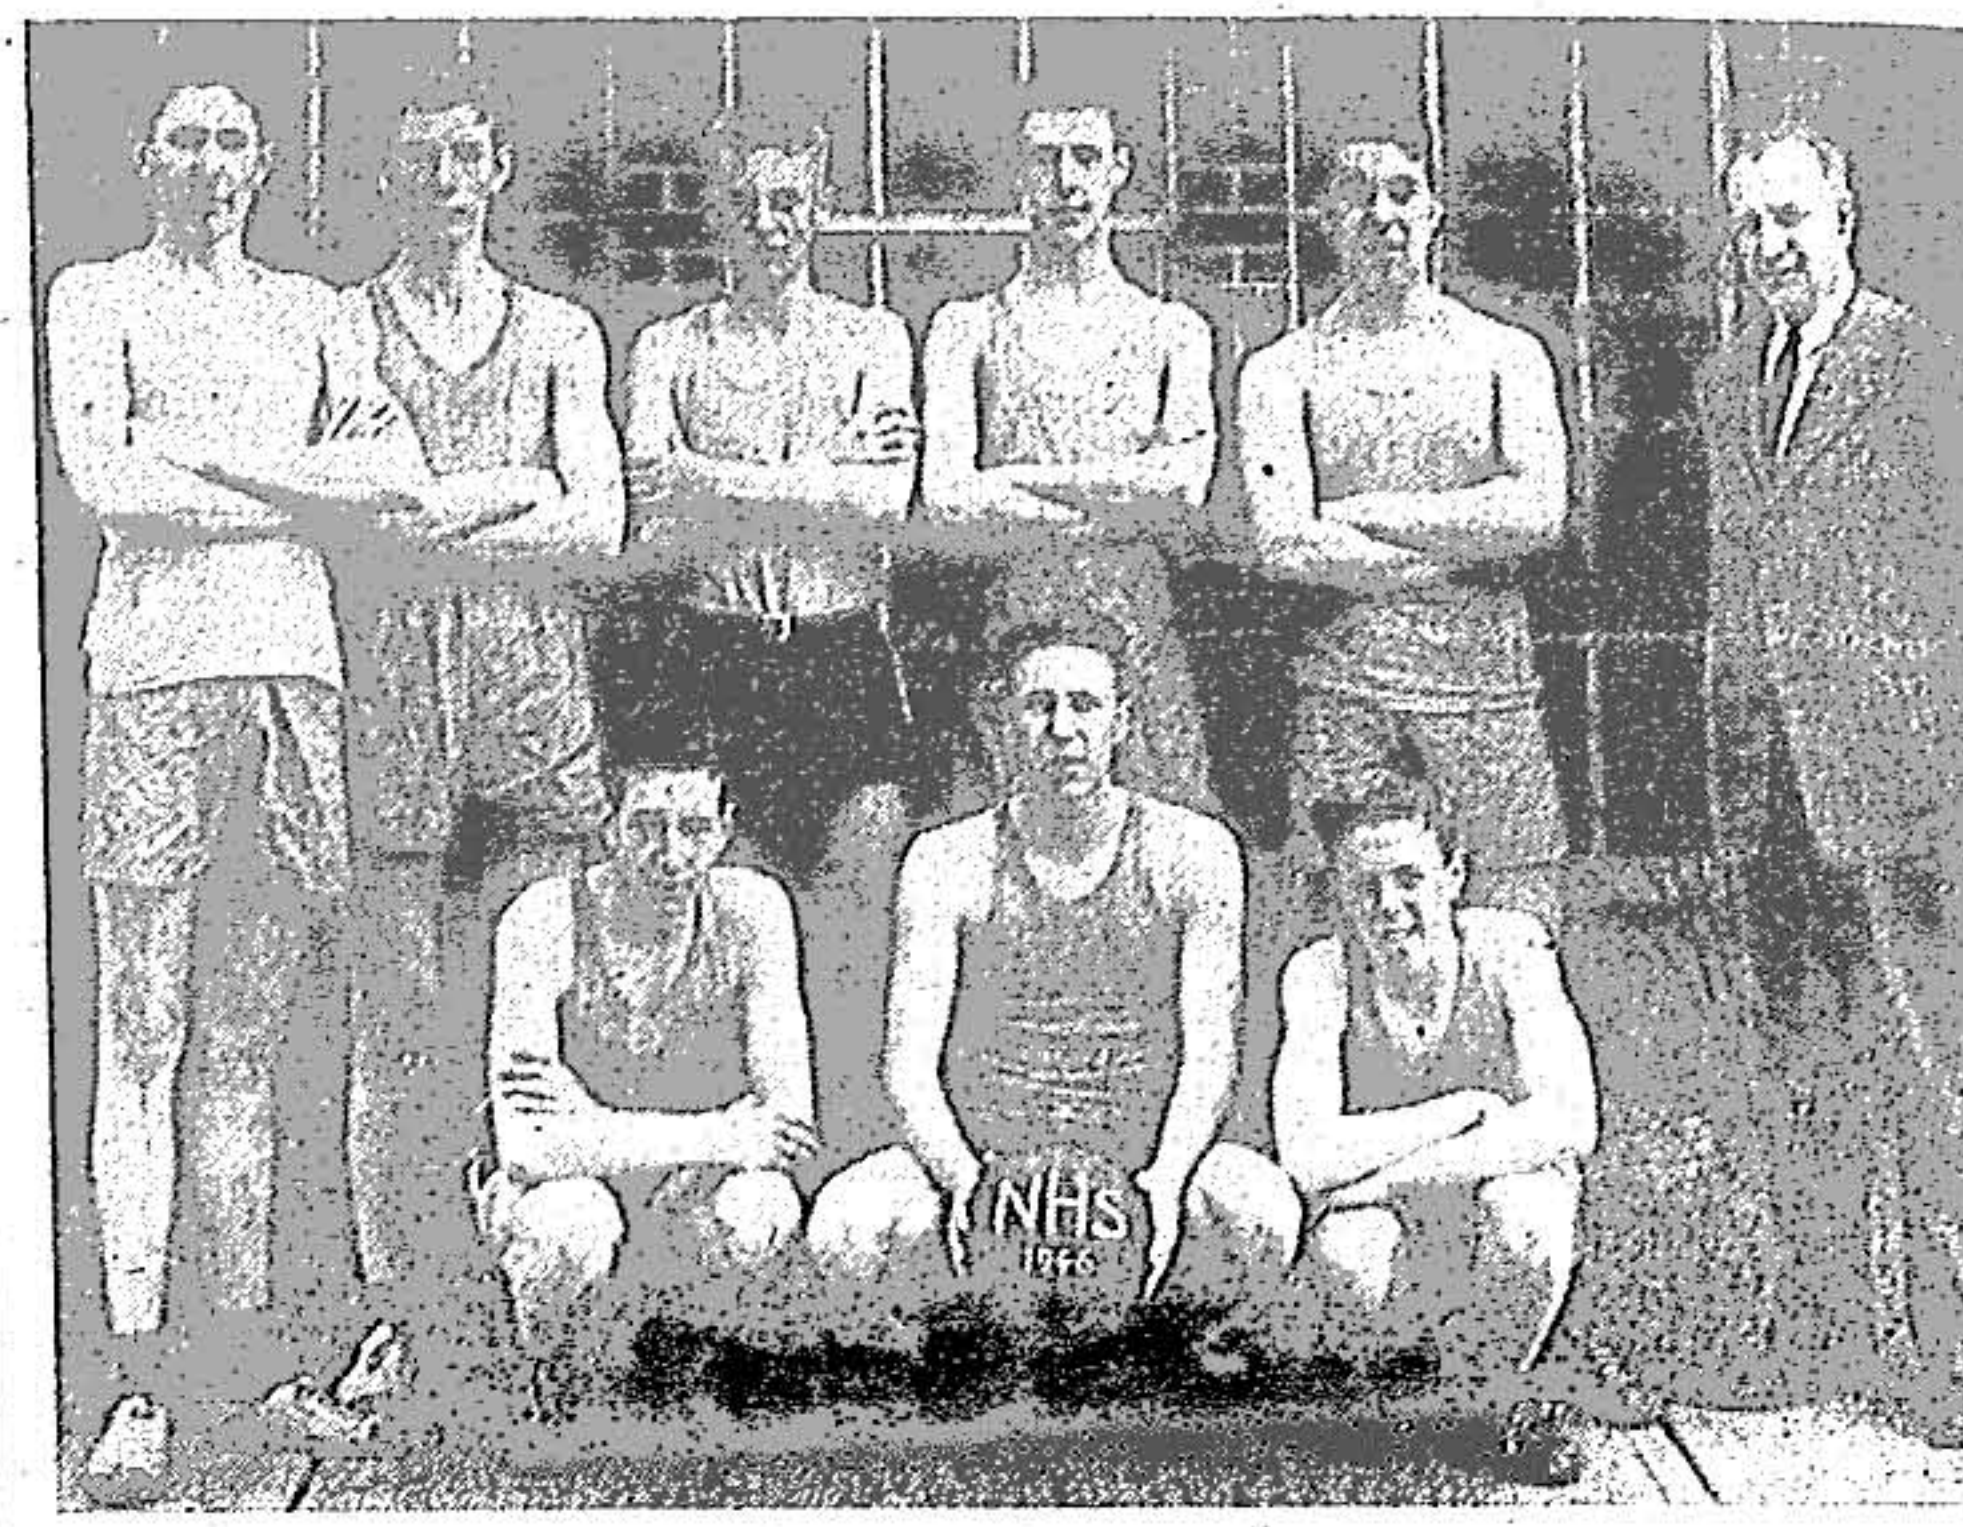

Congratulations are due these girls. They played good basketball, and brought their team to victory by winning the North York Championship of 1946. Keep up the good work!

Pray For Children Of U.K. Pierce Urges N.H.S. Pupils

By ANN CARLUTHERS

A special assembly was held at Newmarket high school on Monday, Oct. 18, at 3.30 p.m. when Clifford D. Pierce, president of the Lions International, who has recently returned from the Paris peace conference, spoke to the teachers and the student body. Mr. Pierce told the students something about the Lions International—its work, its size, its aims. At their convention at Philadelphia, Penn., last July, the delegates, to show their earnest desire for peace, decided that Mr. Pierce and a past president, Mr. Skene should take to the peace conference a scroll expressing the earnest desire of the Lions clubs for peace. This was presented to the conference through James Byrnes, the American delegate.

Speaking of his visit to one of the plenary sessions of the peace conference, Mr. Pierce informed us that all the discussions were carried on in five languages. At the conclusion of a speech in one language, it was immediately translated into the other four languages.

In telling of his stay in London, the speaker described the battered, debris-littered condition of the city where an average breakfast consists of a small helping of porridge, powdered milk, powdered eggs, sausage (which is 75 percent soybean meal), if you are lucky, and two very thin slices of toast. The clothing ration is just as slim. A man has 30 points a year but one suit takes 26 points and one pair of shoes nine points. The materials are cheap, for Britain in an attempt to gain the export trade which is so vital to her national income, is sending her better materials to other countries in exchange for the goods necessary for her way of life.

He also told us of the children in Britain. They were the ones who probably suffered most from the war and its aftermath so that even now it is difficult for them to laugh unrestrainedly. As his closing remarks, Mr. Pierce asked the students to pray for the children of England and to take an unselfish view of our priceless heritage of schools, churches and friends as there is much to be gotten out of unselfish service.

Patronize your home town merchant. He usually has what you want.

New Green Walls Arouse Much Classroom Comment

"What is this life, if full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare."

But our opinions differ about standing and staring at the walls of N.H.S. During the summer, a bright, glossy, pea-green paint was applied to the walls below the blackboards. This has caused much comment.

When we were rushing into our assigned rooms the usual, "Grab the back seat" was replaced by "Look at the walls!" Some of our opinions were changed from unfavorable to favorable when we became accustomed to them, but others dislike them just the same.

One of the staff would like her room completely painted in this green such as Room Two. But another differed — she likes the green of the grass, shrubs, and trees which are certainly restful, but this green is so peculiar. She is glad her room isn't done completely in green.

An idea was offered by another. Why not paint the top part of the rooms the lovely shade of green that is in the Bank of Montreal? The paint job is considered a great improvement on the old ink-spotted buff that we had in the past few years. Irregular polka-dots aren't attractive.

Maybe this was to add brightness to our high school days but whatever the reason it must have been good. Even if it isn't human, there is always one bright thing in every room—the walls!

The Boys From S.A.C.

As they marched upon the field,
You'd think that they would never yield,
But not long after the first down,
They're nigh all lying on the ground.
This is the team we're supposed to play,
And we could see an easy day,
But as we draw down near their post,
They sent us out a whole new host.
Now the first team is what we face,
And so we run another race,
Almost before we can look around,
They have made their second down.
Oh what a game and we got beat,
But we didn't take it sitting on our seat,
And again we'd like to play that school,
If only to have a swim in their pool.

—Bennett Grose

Mr. Jones: Have you got an education?
Rastus: Yes suh, I is very smart. I is so smart I skipped grades.

Mr. Jones: How many grades did you skip?
Rastus: All of them after Grade 5.

High School Represented On Eaton's Junior Council

By HELEN EPWORTH

Every Saturday morning, an assembly of representatives from schools in Toronto and the surrounding district, meet in Toronto under the supervision of the T. Eaton Co. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss ideas which will further interest in education and out-of-school activities.

In this junior council are two of our senior students, E. Jackson and G. McNern, who were chosen by Eaton's with Mr. Lockhart's assistance to represent our high school for 1946-47. These members were selected for their executive abilities and certain personal qualifications which were specified by The Eaton's Council.

What is the function of this council? The council members hear various methods of buying and selling merchandise and numerous ways of displaying it. They also assist the T. Eaton Co. in modelling at fashion shows, advertising, and organizing social activities. The executives are given all privileges which the Eaton's staff enjoys and are considered as being part of it.

Not only the members of this junior council benefit, but also the schools from which they come. Eaton's provides boxes for dances, decorations for special occasions, and rewards for sportsmanship in the field of athletics to each school.

Most of us picture council meetings as dull and somewhat formal, but this is far from the truth. One instance which improves this occurred when Mr. Vale informed the council that the streets at the camp were being named after the members. However, he said he defied anyone to try to derive a name of a street from the name "Spilletta" and after much pondering it was decided that the street would be named Muriel St. after one of Mr. Spilletta's girl friends (now Mrs. Spilletta!).

Teacher: And now we'll see attendance. Everyone absent hold up your hand. Well of dears, perfect attendance again.

PINAFORE CAST INCLUDES 17 N.H.S. PUPILS
 BY MARION ROSE
 On Thursday, Oct. 23, the Pickering College Glee Club had its first practice for 1946-47. The operetta chosen is Gilbert and Sullivan's popular H.M.S. Pinafore. It will be under the direction of R. E. K. Rourke and Frank B. Houston. The production is scheduled for March 13, 14, 15. Until then, the practices will be every Tuesday and Thursday from four to five o'clock.
 A new feature of the club this year will be the taking of the production to Forest Hill for the night of March 17.
 As usual the girls' chorus is made up of students from Newmarket high school. This year there are 17 girls: Betty Brammer, Margaret Fraser, Shirley Geer, Pearl Gunn, Irene Hill, Eileen Jackson, Essie Link, Mary Lou Little, Peggy Locke, Doris Proctor, Margaret Proctor, Elaine Robinson, Marion Rose, Dorothy Sprague, Virginia Van-Sant, Barbara Wilson and Helen Winger.

Campaign With Gusto For School Offices
 After some lively election campaigns, the executive of the Literary Society of the school for this year was elected, with Doris Proctor as president.
 The rest of the executive is: first vice-pres., Gordon McNern; second vice-pres., Ron Bovair; sec., Marion Rose; treas., Helen Epworth; pianist, Beth King.
 Miss Bateson has been chosen as Honorary President. There is a great deal of work connected with this society and we feel that those who hold office are quite capable of doing a good job.
 Two other main school organizations are the Girls' and Boys' Athletic Societies, with Pat Duncan and Bob McNern as their respective presidents.
 The Honorary Presidents are Miss McGee and Mr. McNelly. The offices held by the girls are as follows: vice-pres., Marg. Proctor; sec., Eileen Jackson; treas., Lois Blight.
 The boys have elected: vice-pres., Garry Proctor; sec., Francis Elphinstone; treas., Bruce Grose.

Miniature Cups Awarded N.H.S. Field Day Winners

Newmarket high school's annual field day was held on Monday, June 3. The individual girl champions were Ruth Hill, senior; Pat Duncan, intermediate, and Mary Ellen MacInnes, junior. The boys, captained by Ruth Hill and Tom Dales, finished first in team competition. The blues, captained by Pat Duncan and Bob McNern, were second; the whites, captained by Marion Rose and Gordon McNern, were third.

All the races were held in the morning on the Pickering College track. The outstanding runners of the school were Ruth Hill and Jean Webster. The highlight of the girls' races was the intermediate and senior round relay. On the last lap Jean Webster came from well behind to pass the white runner and gain second place for the blues.
 In the field event there was keen competition in the junior and intermediate groups. Pat Duncan staged a great comeback after being injured in the morning by earning two firsts and a second.
 The following is the individual point standing: seniors, Ruth Hill (23), Eileen Jackson (8), Margaret Proctor (7); intermediates, Pat Duncan (13), Jean Webster (8), Lois Blight (8); juniors, Mary Ellen MacInnes (26), Winifred De La Haye (10).
 The winners are proud possessors of miniature cups awarded by the Girls' Athletic Society.

FIRST DANCE SEPT. 28 HAILED AS SUCCESS
 BY FRANCIS ELPHINSTONE
 The first dance of the high school year was held on Friday, Sept. 28. A Toronto orchestra supplied the music which was acclaimed the best heard in the auditorium for a few years. The athletic societies sponsored the dance and supplied refreshments.
 This was the first time the first-formers had an opportunity to become acquainted with their fellow students at a social function. Their large attendance showed their eagerness to join in school activities.
 The athletic societies shared the gate receipts.
 An elevator operator had been answering silly questions all day and was getting sick of it. He was on the ground floor waiting for a load when a lady came up to him and asked if the car was going up.
 "No," he snapped, "This is a cross town car."

DONALD KING WINS $200 U. OF T. BURSARY
 It was announced late in October that Donald King, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. King, Newmarket, has been awarded a bursary in Applied Science by the University of Toronto. This bursary, valued at $200, is awarded for general proficiency, particularly in mathematics and science.
 A student of Newmarket high school throughout his entire secondary school course, Donald received first class honors in geometry, trigonometry, chemistry and physics in the senior matriculation exams last June.
 Throughout his five years at Newmarket high school, Donald has won several prizes. He won proficiency prizes in grades XI, XII and XIII. The Stanley Brock prize was awarded to him in 1945 for high marks in middle school chemistry and physics along with with the E. Campbell shield for high marks in middle school science. This year, he was awarded the Hon. E. J. Davis second prize for mathematics.
 Our sincere congratulations are extended to Donald for his exceptional efforts.

COMPETITION KEEN IN BOYS' FIELD DAY
 The boys' competition in the field day last spring was very keen. Tom Dales took the senior championship by a close margin, being only five points ahead of his closest rival, Bob McNern. Lloyd Powell was the intermediate champ, with Stallard Waterhouse giving him a close run. The juniors had an enthusiastic competition. Bob Winch won top honors with Grant Firth a close second.

"THEY SHALL NOT GROW OLD AS WE THAT ARE LEFT GROW OLD"
 —Lawrence Binyon

On Remembrance Day will we bow our heads in tribute to those who died in freedom's cause. We will remember them as we saw them last... young, eager, fired with high purpose... staking their very lives that men might be free. Their name is perpetuated in our memory. They shall never grow old as long as the cause they died to preserve is remembered by a humble and grateful nation.

 In Flanders fields the poppies grow
 Between the crosses row on row
 That mark our place; and in the sky
 The larks still bravely singing, fly
 Scarce heard amid the guns below.
 We are the Dead. Short days ago
 We lived, felt the dawn, saw sunset-glow,
 Loved and were loved, and now we lie
 In Flanders fields.

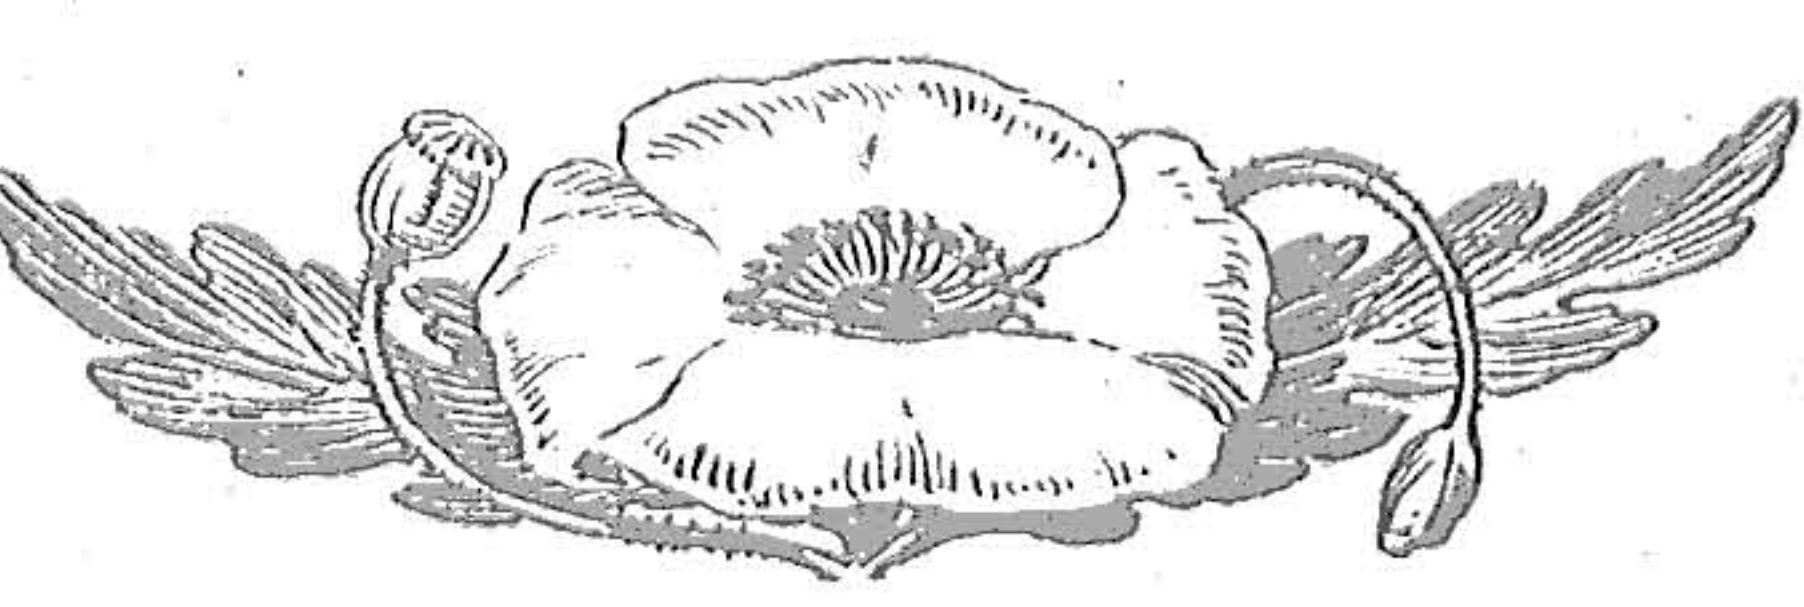

Take up or quarrel with the foe;
 To you from failing hands we throw
 The torch; be yours to hold it high!
 If ye break faith with us who die,
 We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
 In Flanders fields.

Ask any man along the street, from jungle bum to banker neat. Who is this guy they're talking about. Nobody knows him yet all of them shout: Kilroy was here; just as sure as I'm a talkin'.

Kilroy was here walkin' right where I've been walkin'. Seems like to me e'er where I go I just barely missed him, where did he go?

Kilroy was here standin' on this terra firma; Kilroy was here, flew a bomber in from Burma. He's been in Paris, Tokyo, Rio de Janeiro and Buffalo. When the marines stormed a tropical isle, they stopped and started to cheer. They decided to claim their own. But a sign said "Kilroy was here."

Kilroy was here; wrote his name way up in Labrador; Kilroy was here, thirty days ahead of Eleanor. Folks just never know where he'll appear. "Look out" behind you—"Kilroy was here."

Kilroy was here autographed the boats of Venice. Kilroy was here, rode with Hope and Skinny Ennis. I see his name everywhere I go—Hodiak, Alaska and Kokomo. Kilroy was here—roamed the waterfront at Trinidad. Kilroy was here—made a chump of limy Mr. Chad. Each hula maiden with her charms so dear. Says, she learned to jitterbug when Kilroy was here. The boys from home took a town south of Rome. And raided the cellar for beer. But the first keg the found Had a deep hollow sound And was labelled Kilroy, was here.

Sunday p.m. I went for a swim And I wooed a gal near a pier. When I turned on my charm she showed me her arm. It was tattooed "Kilroy was here."

Kilroy was here—now he has the ladies swoony. Kilroy was here—they say he's a mellow roony. Even my sweetie is acting so queer. Tells me "Go 'way child, Kilroy was here."

DRAMA THIS YEAR

This year the Literary Society has planned to form a dramatic club which will take the place of form programs. The club will be under the leadership of Miss Roberts, with Mr. Garrett acting as assistant. Inter-form debates have also been discussed, but this year the winners may get a chance to compete in inter-school debates.

THE BEST LAID PLANS

By Bill Ewing

The ship silently knifed its way through the thick fog, so thick one could have almost cut it into slices. A foghorn blared in the distance and then all was silent again except for the chugging of the powerful yet strangely quiet motors. At the sound of the fog-horn, the man leaning against the rail stiffened momentarily and then slowly relaxed again. His cigarette glowed in the darkness.

Any sound was apt to make Joe Tampalli jump. Sailing a ship full of contraband and black market goods through the English Channel was a good way to lose one's freedom. Joe Tampalli, better known as "Cap" to his fellow partners in crime, had been in and out of jails of almost every country. Of his 42 years of life in this world, 20 of them had been spent behind cold grey stone walls. No wonder an unexpected sound made his muscles tighten.

Both French and British authorities were looking for Joe. Not that they knew for sure it was he, but they had good reasons for suspecting him. He was known to be a sailor and he knew the English Channel like a book. He had no scruples about what he did as long as it was not lawful. He was part Italian and part French and part a lot of other things when referred to by police.

Joe flicked his cigarette into the fog and straightened up. A smile crossed his not unhandsome face. This set-up was perfect. All he had to do was hijack things on the English side, conceal them on his schooner and slip through the channel in the dead of night to the secluded French cove where he was relieved of his precious load by French black market operators. He was well paid for his efforts, and only had to make one trip every two weeks. Joe knew that if he was caught this time he would spend the rest of his life behind bars, but Joe did not intend to get caught.

Now, that foghorn sounded dangerously close interrupting his thoughts. He had been warned that the coast-guard was alerted to watch for suspicious ships and his ship was anything but innocent looking. The coast-guard would certainly be interested in a sailing ship going through the English Channel on a foggy night without running lights, without giving warning by its foghorn, and powered by a 20 horse-power motor, and its interest would be increased by the cargo in the hold. He was standing beside the wheel now and gave the orders for the motors to be stopped. He held his breath as the horn sounded again almost on top of him, and then he could make out the outlines of the trim coastguard cutter as it slipped past him.

Joe wiped perspiration from his brow. He gave the order for motors to be started again and the ship once more got underway. According to Joe's calculations, his destination was near. He swung the wheel hard to port. The worst was over and Joe congratulated himself. Now he could make out the cove through the fog. Well, this is it, mused Joe and was about to give the orders to slow motors when it happened. An ear-splitting roar shattered the silence and a blinding flash of light illuminated the darkness. The ship groaned in agony and seemed to buckle in two. The rush of water through the gaping hole in the stern could be heard, as if the sea was hungry for a ship. Then the lights went out for Joe.

When he came to he was being fished out of the water by coastguard men. Two trim-looking cutters stood by. Joe's head ached, and the guns that covered him did not look friendly.

"Perfect set-up, perfect set-up," Joe mumbled incoherently. "Almost," said the French official standing over him. "If you hadn't hit that mine we probably wouldn't have got you for a long time. As far as we know it was the only one of the three that broke loose over a year ago that wasn't found, and now both it and you are accounted for."

OOPS, MY MISTAKE

A girl student got on the bus. A young man got up from his seat.

"Oh no, said she, pushing him into his seat, 'I'll stand.'"

"But I—" said the man.

"No, I insist," said she, again pushing him into his seat.

"Listen lady," said the young man, "that was my stop back there, now will you please let me up."

Senior Rugby Stalwarts

Don Brown: "Brownie" (captain), shows lots of color in his post as quarterback. This is one lad who knows his football and is able to take whatever comes his way. He plays a good game and can be given great credit for his good sportsmanship and cool temper.

E. Alsop: "Em" is playing his first year of rugby and has already shown that with a little more experience, he will be a valuable asset to the team.

D. Beattie: "Dunc" is another main stay of our line and is our fastest lineman. He is a deadly tackler and he and Jack Sproston build up the right side of the line.

D. Bovair: "Chesty" is another bulwark of our team. On defense Dan drops back and plays left secondary.

L. Cudmore: "Cud" is another good end, pass receiver and tackler. In our first game he was most outstanding.

F. Elphinstone: "Elph" is another fast man, known as "swivel hips" because of his elusiveness in broken field running. He receives well and is also a powerful plunger. "Elph" plays a smart defensive game at tertiary.

B. Ewing: The smallest member of our backfield, "Russ" is very tricky and often surprises our foes by his long gains through the line. He is also a good tackler and plays a strong secondary.

Ben Grose: This is Ben's first year and he plays a strong game at centre. At the first his playing was slightly erratic but he has since developed into a first class snap and tackler.

Bruce Grose: Bruce is also playing his first year of rugby and he is another deadly tackler. Though a bit on the small side, he makes up for what he lacks in this respect by his aggressiveness.

Bob McNern: "Red" is one of our fastest men. Though this is his first year in the senior backfields, he is improving every game and is our leading point-getter with ten points to his credit in three games. Red also excels in broken field running.

Gord McNern: Gord is known to all his team mates as "pile-driver". Outstanding as our plunging back, he is a tower of strength. Our team would never be the same without Gord.

Garry Proctor: Garry is one of the strong points of the team. He is a sure-fire pass receiver and a deadly tackler, both downfield and defensive.

Doug Ross: Doug hurt his back in the first game after he had shown that he would be a valuable asset to our backfield.

Jim Rutledge: Jim is also a little on the small side and has not had much chance to play this year. He should be one of the main members of next year's team.

Jack Sproston: Jack is another hard man to beat on the line. He is the tallest man on the team and is a consistent blocker and tackler.

Bernard Tunney: "Sus" is the brick wall of our line. No one gets around him and his all-round blocking and tackling has been one of the main reasons for our victories.

S. Waterhouse: Stall is also a little inexperienced but he has two more years of high school and will probably be outstanding when his last years roll around.

LINE HOLDS AGAINST LAST PICKERING RUSH

By BRUCE SHANKS
On Thursday, Oct. 17, Newmarket seniors defeated Pickering College in a close-checking football tilt. The score 7-5 in favor of the Newmarket lads indicates how well matched were the teams.

The first quarter started off rather slowly but was pepped up considerably when Bob "Red" McNern carried the pig skin from Pickering's 25 yd. line for a touchdown.

The second quarter began with Pickering putting on the pressure and resulted in a touchdown in the first ten minutes of play by Hutchinson, catching a forward from Atchison.

Near the end of the second quarter, Gordon McNern showed his old form by plunging his way through the Pickering line and by making some outstanding tackles. After half-time Pickering came out fighting and fought until the end but was rewarded only by a rouge made on Hutchinson's kick. The Pickering boys held the canal lads strictly to rugby in the third quarter. In the last quarter the N.H.S. team revived and began driving hard to rouge two points on Don Brown's lengthy punts. The highlight of the game was in the closing moments when Pickering had the Newmarket team on their own one yd. line. Jim McKeown made three tries to break through the hard fighting N.H.S. line but to no avail. The final score was 7-5 for Newmarket.

Almost all of us have seen or heard about the parrot that resided at Middlebrook's. It seems that the parrot, which formerly belonged to Sir Wm. Mulock, insists upon a cup of tea and a slice of toast every day at 4 p.m. For his dinner, this bumptious bird demands, in no uncertain terms, a baked potato, and protests loudly and shrilly if he is forgotten. He's been making such a pig of himself lately that his distracted owners have given him away.

SRS. TUMBLE SAINTS IN EXCITING TEST 10-6

By BRUCE SHANKS

On Monday, Oct. 21, N.H.S. senior rugby team defeated the St. Andrew's College team in an exciting game 10-6.

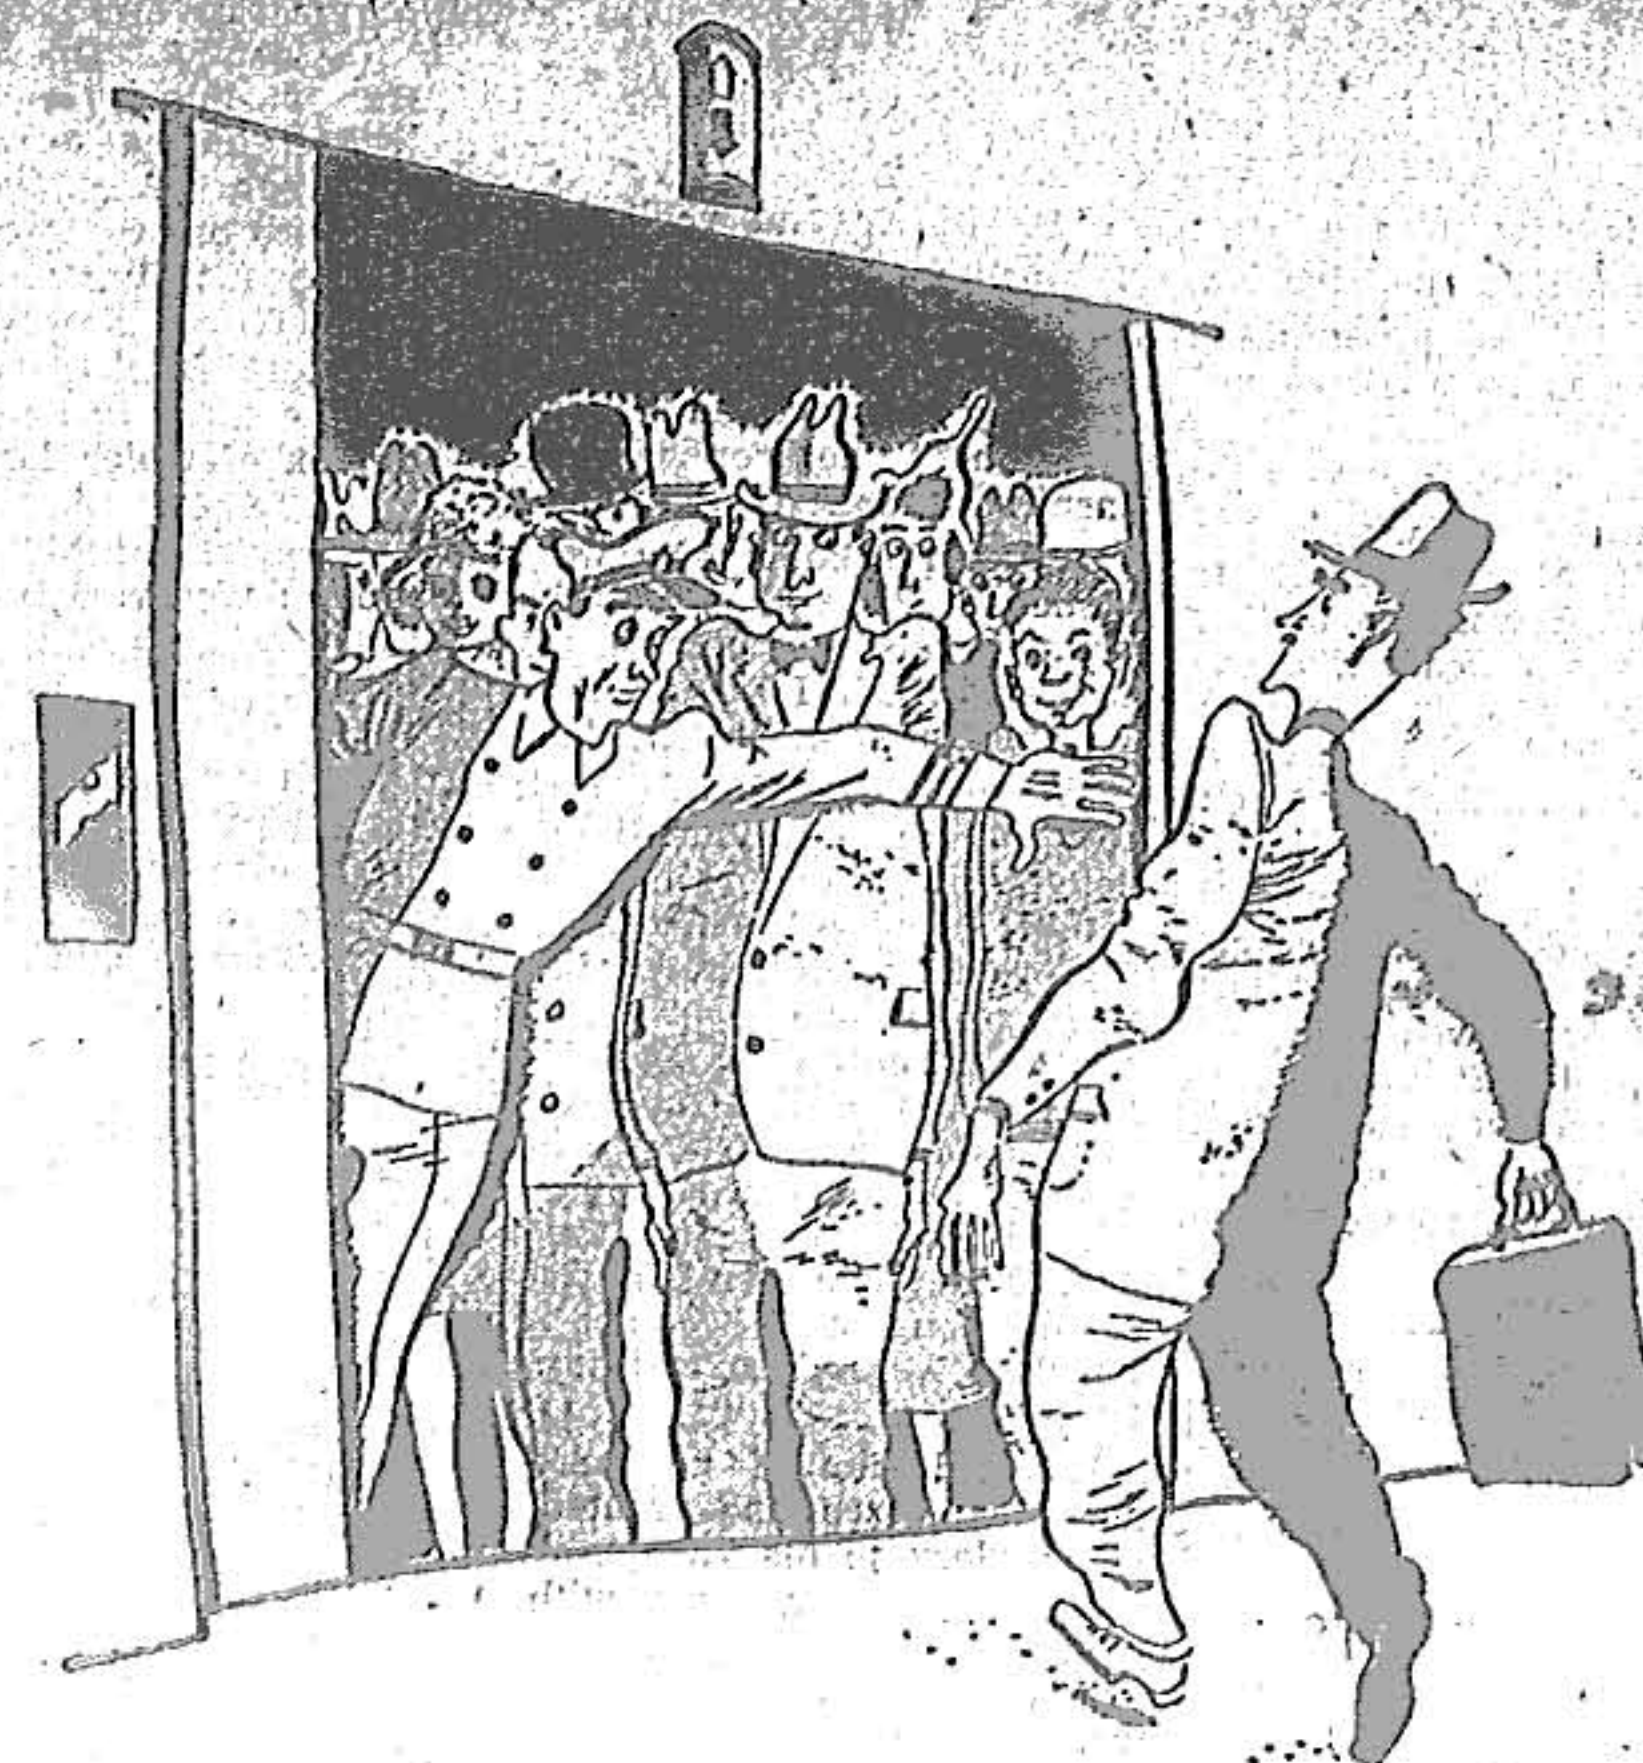

Early in the first half, Lloyd Cudmore of the Newmarket team clinched a lengthy forward from Don Brown to stride from the St.'s 45 yd. line for a touchdown. The St.'s fought back like good sportsmen but had little luck. In the first half, the play was evenly divided between the two hard-hitting teams.

The second half opened with St. Andrew's pressing hard. The college team fought to the Newmarket ten yd. line and came through with a well deserved touchdown converted for six points. Towards the end of the third quarter Bob "Red" McNern, after being hurt in the latter part of the first half, came back to make a fast end run for another touchdown. There was no scoring in the last quarter but the St. Andrew's team, although beaten, fought hard to the finish.

The most exciting play of the game was the 35 yd. forward squeezed by Garry Proctor which was well placed by Don "Brownie" Brown.

One more can be one too many

Even Hydro cannot always find immediate room for one more consumer.

Present demands for Hydro power taxes existing facilities to the utmost. This is due to ever-increasing use of low-cost Hydro service plus necessarily restricted Hydro construction during and since the war. Shortage of materials and equipment makes it impossible to speedily accomplish expansion long since planned.

Lines and transformers now serving any one district can carry just so much power. Wherever that capacity is being completely used by present consumers, addition of new customers could be made only at the expense of service to the old, until new materials for extensions are obtainable. This condition applies in city, town and country. Everything possible is being done to overcome it. New equipment is being installed as fast as it becomes available. Your Hydro Commission trusts and believes you will recognize the facts; and assist, by your patient co-operation, in the orderly restoration of the prompt service that your Hydro always strives to maintain.

In the meantime, let your Hydro know as early as possible of any planned substantial increase in your power needs, and use this low-cost service wisely.

Remembrance Day

The name recalls the years of war, the tramping armies, the rumbling tanks, the aerial armadas and the battling steel fleets that prowled the seas. We are reminded of charred and blackened cities, homeless millions, untold suffering, years of anxiety and anguish. Intellect cannot estimate the pain and sorrow, nor words assuage the grief of broken hearts. Yet this was done with the sublime hope and faith that through it a better day would dawn. A day when man would wage peace as diligently as we waged war; when justice and honesty would succeed graft and deceit. Our comrades died; some willingly, some fearfully, that this might be attained. To us the torch is given. Let us wage a war for justice, truth and mercy, that the sacrifice of those who fell be not in vain.

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old,

Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn

At the going down of the sun, and in the morning

We will remember them.

WHAT WE FOUND

There is always a spice of adventure about a drive, and when one has been shut in by illness for some weeks, expectation rises.

It was in this receptive frame of mind that I accompanied the other half of the family the other day. It was one of those days when a delicate lilac mist veils distant objects, but when those near at hand have an almost preternatural clarity of outline.

Road banks were carpeted with what looked like large gold coins, and every tree and bush shimmered or glowed with scarlet and gold, often against a background of deep green cedar.

"Whither do we wend our way?" I inquired, as we ambled peacefully along.

"Oh hither and yon", he replied.

"Isn't this Vivian?" I asked.

"Certainly it's Vivian, didn't you say you wanted a case of tomatoes?" he replied in an inspired manner.

So then I knew why we had come to Vivian — to see the cannery and to purchase tomatoes of which I never seem to be able to come home enough.

We drove in beside a long low building — evidently a conversion from some other industry, and as we drove, I held my breath, for hundreds of snow white fowl found our entrance disturbing and went away from there. I felt like apologizing but as they didn't stay to hear, I felt my eloquence would be wasted and held my tongue.

Just then the owner, Mr. Grose, came along and we got our tomatoes — and some information.

I asked him if he were a patriotic citizen and wanted to bring glory to his village, or if he were just endowed with a pioneering spirit. He said, "not exactly either of those things, — just felt perhaps there was a need that I could fill".

I asked him if he intended to branch out into other vegetables — peas, beans, etc. He told us that another year they would probably can beans, for which they were equipped. "Peas?" I asked. "No peas", he told me, "they require very special equipment and also experience. I have neither, and will stick to what I can do properly".

A great many people took their tomatoes to him for canning, and of course this reduced the price. Some, with a big surplus of tomatoes just sold them outright. Another year I shall take my tomatoes there and have them canned—I think it's great and I've heard many others say the same.

In front of the factory there was a huge contraption that looked like a locomotive from long ago. Anyway they were going to use the great boiler for heating purposes in the winter.

Mr. Grose is making the big old store on the south east corner of the crossroads into a duplex of which he will occupy the lower half.

Altogether I thought as we drove away from there with our cans safely parked behind us, how much an enterprising spirit means in a small community.

Mr. Grose has found an outlet for his own chickens, employment for some people, and is filling a need for the surrounding country—much success to him!

Barney threw and missed his mark, but the lemon smashed a large pane of glass in the front window.

ST. TROUCE S.A.C. FOR THIRD VICTORY
On Monday, Oct. 28, the N.H.S. trounced the St. Andrews 58-0. The Saints, having about the same weight as the Newmarket lads, lacked the speed and hard driving plunges that led the Redmen to their victory. Ted Greenwood played well for Newmarket, but was sidelined with an injury in the early part of the game; Thoms and Crouch were the spearhead of the Newmarket attack, with Thoms collecting three touchdowns and Crouch keeping in pace with Thoms. "Speedy" Ken Budd made a brilliant play for his only touchdown of the game. This is the juniors' third win in three starts.

MRS. DOWN SAINTS IN CLOSE MATCH
The junior football squad came home from St. Andrew's College Friday night, Oct. 11, with an 8-7 win. In the first half, the college boys plunged their way down the gridiron for a touchdown and later got two more. Laurie Thoms showed a great tackling performance in the first half and the score might have been more for the Saints if Thoms had not become their stumbling block. After half time, the Newmarket lads came out on the short end of a 7-0 score. Early in the second half Jim Rutledge received two long forwards from Don Brown. The Newmarket high school boys then kicked twice for two points. Near the

RIFLE CLUB MEETS
By GEORGE CASE
Friday evening, the Newmarket rifle club met at the rifle range in the drill hall for a practice. Fifteen members were present. Some fairly good shooting was done but considerable practice will be needed before a competition. Any person with a rifle is urged to attend these meetings. Membership fee is two dollars. The club has arranged with the police that those under 16 may, with their parents' permission, carry their rifles through town. Membership for them is one dollar.

OUR ALERT FOURTH FORMER
Dear Jim comes puffing in at nine. He first appears to be feeling fine. But when you look at him a right you see he has been out all night. In history class he keeps awake. But only just for his own sake. For as he sits so near the board Miss Stuart may think him to be bored. Now as he comes into French class Miss Bateson eyes him over her glass. To keep his eyes open, oh, what a job. I often have to give a sob. The rest of the morning passes by. And you can be sure that Jim gives many a sigh. He livers up and gives English a whirl.

Because he sits by a pretty girl. At one twenty nine et demi Jimmie's speed is something to see. For to this class if ever late You'll find Mr. Lockhart to be no easy bait. Next comes the test that tries us all. On which many will probably fall. But Mr. Garrett isn't so bad. Except when he gets awful mad. Well you can see it is almost four. For Jim just sits and watches the door. Too bad, old boy, you're almost dead. But it won't be long till you'll be off to bed. —Bennett Grose

MAGISTRATES COURT
W.P.T.B. INFRACTIONS BEFORE MAGISTRATE
Featured in magistrate's court last Friday were two prosecutions of charges of breaking W.P.T.B. regulations. Miss B. E. Lyons acted for the crown in both cases. Magistrate W. E. McIlvenne presided. W. W. Gray and G. R. Lovell, W.P.T.B. investigators, testified that they had entered the grocery shop of H. Tassie at Jackson's Point, and found many items marked over ceiling price. "This list of items was checked with Mr. Tassie and he admitted the overcharges," said Gray. "We checked 54 items while we were there, and 26 of them were unpriced. It is not the practice to check the list of unpriced items with the merchants. We had called on Tassie before and he had been warned about putting stock on the shelves on which the price had not been marked." C. R. J. Griffin, W.P.T.B. investigator, testified that the list of over-celling items had been handed to him and that after checking them he found 14 infractions. "In addition to this," he said, "about half of the items checked had not been price-tagged." Tassie claimed that the unpriced items were in his "store-room" but admitted that customers had free access to them. "I stored surplus stock under the counter of my adjoining novelty store," he said. "The goods that were not priced were an even more serious infraction than those priced over ceiling," Miss Lyons commented. Tassie was convicted and remanded until next week for sentence. Samuel Battaglia was convicted of having unpriced goods on display in his Jackson's Point grocery and was remanded until next week for sentence. M. J. Bennetts and L. J. O'Brien, W.P.T.B. investigators, testified that they had entered accused's store on July 26, found 22 items unmarked, and warned him. In September, they said, they re-entered the store and found 19 items unmarked. James Albert Yorke was fined $25 and costs or one month for having liquor in an illegal place. Constable W. R. Hill testified that he had found accused hitchhiking with a bag containing 21 bottles of beer. Two other liquor charges against the accused were withdrawn. Wm. and Lettie Hodgins, and Ethel Lepard, all of Newmarket, were bound over for one year to keep the peace resulting from a charge of assault laid by Mrs. Lepard. Mrs. Lepard claimed that the two accused "struck me and threw me to the floor and choked me" during an argument. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins were tenants of Mrs. Lepard at the time. David Dicks, Sutton, was fined $15 and costs or ten days when convicted of careless driving. Constable W. R. Hill laid the charge following the finding of accused's truck on its side after it had turned over one-and-a-half times. Accused, who claimed that he had never been on that particular road before, said that he had been forced to swerve sharply to the right by an oncoming car, and that when he had swerved back the right rear corner of the truck struck a hydro pole. He said that the force of the impact had swung the truck around and that it then "capsized." Robert E. Cleaver, Keswick, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to forward a form for the purchase of a car within six days and was fined $10 and costs. He also pleaded guilty to driving without a 1946 license and was fined $10 and costs. A charge of careless driving was dismissed. Robert Shea acted for the accused. Constable W. J. Myers and Chief Constable Ronald Watt laid the charges. Earl Atcheson pleaded guilty to failure to produce a 1946 driver's license but not guilty to a charge of careless driving. He was fined $10 and costs on the first charge. Walter Wright, Queensville, testified that, as Atcheson's car approached him, it started drawing across the road onto his side. He said that he pulled his car over so that it was almost completely off the pavement onto the shoulder and that accused's car had rammed the side of his. Atcheson claimed that Wright's lights had blinded him. Constable Jos. Jardine testified that when he tested Wright's lights they appeared alright. Atcheson was remanded for one week in order that an eye-test could be made. Blair Wilson and Cliff Thompson were found guilty of being "in possession of a rifle for the purpose of hunting or shooting protected or unprotected birds or animals during the time when pheasants may be lawfully taken or shot." They were fined $10 and costs. A charge against Thompson of carrying a firearm to hunt game was withdrawn. The rifles were confiscated. K. M. R. Stiver acted for the accused. John MacDonald, Kirkfield, charged by Constable George Foster with careless driving on the Pefferlaw road, was fined $25 and costs. He had been drinking, according to Constable

Young Hopefuls
By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN
Send your questions to Mrs. Dorothy Bowman, P.O. box 144, Homestead, Is Real. Gordon, 15, is making a brave attempt to cure himself of homesickness. As far back as he can remember, he's felt ashamed because he couldn't go places without his mother. He couldn't go because something inside wouldn't let him. Every time Gordon had an invitation to stay overnight at a friend's, he'd think about the fun they'd have and become very excited about going. Then, at the last minute, he would think of some excuse and trot home to bed. Often he would persuade his friend to go home with him to spend the night; but, more often, he'd be content to go home alone. Gordon has gone out to parties and dinners without members of his family on a few occasions. However, he practically chokes down the food and admits he would rather eat a sandwich at home—even if he has to make it himself. For the past eight years, Gordon's parents have been hoping, but only half-expecting him to join his older brother at a boys' camp. Just before camp opens, Gordon announces he'd rather stay home alone—which results in his trailing his parents to a summer hotel. Just recently, Gordon's parents had an invitation for a weekend which definitely excluded Gordon. Older brother made plans to be away, also. Older sister did likewise. That left Gordon to decide what he wanted to do. Finally, he asked Aunt Marge and Uncle Bob if he could spend the weekend with them. Aunt Marge and Uncle Bob were delighted with the prospect and called for Gordon on the special Friday afternoon and without delay packed him and his full-sized suitcase into their car. This time there simply wasn't time for a change of mind. During the first 30 miles, Gordon seemed to be very enthusiastic about prospects for the weekend. Nevertheless, during the last 40 miles, there were several lulls in the gay conversation—during which Gordon had to be assured repeatedly that he was a very welcome visitor, that it wouldn't be too much trouble to feed him, and that definitely 'No', it wouldn't be more fun for all of them to spend the weekend at his place. After the destination was reached, it took Gordon about an hour to get unpacked and settled. His suitcase was filled with everything he could pack into it—except clothes, which were conspicuously lacking. Besides the small bundle of pyjamas, robe and slippers, there were pictures, a five-piece dresser set, a large bath towel, a small face towel, a wash cloth, toiletries, books of mystery, books of adventures, an alarm clock, stationery, ink, etc. Gordon must have cleared his desk and the top of his dresser to have brought such a quantity and variety of supplies. Anyway, he did his utmost to make himself feel at home by surrounding himself with as many personal properties as he could cram into one large suitcase. Before saying "Goodnight" to Aunt Marge, Gordon asked her if she thought Uncle Bob would mind if he took the bus home. Aunt Marge didn't think Uncle Bob would mind; but he did. Uncle Bob knew, as did Gordon, that Sunday buses didn't make the proper connections so Gordon would have to leave Saturday if he returned home by bus. Uncle Bob drove Gordon home on Sunday. The family that greeted Gordon made him feel like a hero instead of the martyr he was considering himself. Gordon thinks he may punish himself by going away again sometime because it felt so good to be home again. Love of home is a very fine thing, but a bad case of homesickness is torture to the very soul. The cure often takes years of effort and misery in the process. The best cure is prevention. During the toddler stage, the child should experience happy intervals alone, satisfying care from others than mother, and periodic pleasant visits away from home without mother. Such early experiences will help the child become secure gradually and painlessly and help him to adapt himself to changed surroundings.

When Clifford D. Pierce had finished speaking to the school three weeks ago, Mr. Lockhart introduced Bert Morrison, who had arrived late, to the students. He called attention to the fact that any Lion member who arrives at a meeting tardy must pay a fine. Mr. Morrison accepted the friendly rebuke graciously, and we thought that the incident had ended. Then Mr. Lambert informed Mr. Lockhart that any Lion member who addresses another member by any other than his first name must also pay a fine! Mr. Lockhart was on his toes, but Mr. Lambert was just one jump ahead!

TOWN REFLECTIONS

By J. JAY WATSON

I was standing on the Timothy St. bridge recently, looking down at the water in the creek below. The ceaseless flow reminded me of "time marching on". There is an inherent power for a variety of uses in water, just as there is inherent power in the opportunities that passing time brings, even to the end of our lives.

Among the myriad "opportunities" is knowledge and appreciation of music—especially does this apply to those who can share their gift of music with others, for the making of music and the sharing of it with others contribute a two-fold joy.

If inborn appreciation of the art of vocal music, without training on the part of an observer, will warrant comment for the enjoyment of a musical evening, both as to the audition and the method of instruction, I would like the privilege of being such a commentator.

I paid a visit as an observer to a meeting of the Newmarket Music Society in the King George school on the evening of October 21. When the group had assembled and the piano was carried into the school room, the music master or choir leader called for a grouping of those who sang soprano, alto, tenor and bass. The leader at the piano then announced the title of the selection to be sung. Then, perhaps by way of testing the voices, he called on the soprano singers to sing the selected music to his accompaniment. This was followed by a like invitation to the alto, the tenor and the bass singers. The evening of song was spent by the singing of the separate groups and by the members singing altogether. The music master at the piano marked time with his extended right hand as emphasis was called for. Now and then by way of constructive guidance, the leader would gently say, "Not very melodious". Timely remarks of this nature were helpful in producing coordination and the desired pitch. Another evidence of the leader's quick ear I recognized in his remark, "Pay attention to the value of the notes". The leader's counsel whenever he spoke denoted the gentleness and mastery that one might look for from a lover of music desiring to develop the musical talent in group singing. The singers showed a very genuine co-operative interest whether singing altogether or in the limited groupings. Their lively concern told of a deep appreciation for the opportunity open to them through the Music Society of which they were privileged to be members.

The fulness of volume of music now and then rounded into touching moments of ecstasy. I recognized in the leader's accompaniment an open door through which one could detect the pulse beat of the singer's aspirations.

During a recess period the leader said they needed more members. One of the number present expressed the opinion that they wanted a group of 60. The leader said they ought to have eight tenors.

The musical echoes of the evening have prompted me to seek publicity for this golden opportunity offered by the Newmarket Music Society under an understanding, patient and inspiring music master.
